SHOCKING FIGURES OF BRITISH ROAD MISHAPS

Six Hundred Killed and Injured Every Day

SWISS BUDGET CRISIS

NEW MINISTER APPOINTED

TO STAY ON THE GOLD BASIS

Berne, Mar. 28.
The political crisis threatened by the resignation of M. Musy, the Finance Minister, has passed.

Fears that Switzerland might be compelled to abandon the gold standard have also disappeared.

M. Philippe Etter has been appointed to succeed M. Musy as Minister of Finance, and following the appointment an agreement has been reached between political leaders.

The Federal Council has decided that the Budget must be balanced and that no expenditure will be permitted which is not covered by revenue receipts.

The Council also decided to forewarn all manipulations of currency and to maintain the gold standard. —Reuter.

SENATE MODIFIES CREDIT SCHEME

New Bill Substituted For Jones Plan

Washington, Mar. 28.
The Banking Committee of the Senate to-day decided to discard the plan to create intermediate credit banks as proposed by Mr. Jesse Jones, chairman of the R.F.C. The Senate Committee has substituted a new Bill under which the Federal Reserve Banks are empowered to make direct loans to industry from the Federal Reserve Banks' surplus funds—for a period not exceeding five years.

GLASS INTERVENTION.

The new Bill was offered by Senator Glass, who proposes that in addition the Federal Reserve Banks shall be authorised to make loans through private banks if the latter bear twenty per cent. of the risk.

The Federal Reserve Banks would be allowed to lend up to six times their surplus. Thus more than $800,000,000 will be available for loans, according to Senator Glass.—Reuter.

INDUSTRIOUS CHINESE MINISTER

To Write History of Europe for Chinese

Rome, Mar. 28.
Signor Mussolini to-day received Mr. Chang Nai-yeu, the Chinese Minister to Brussels, who presented him with a story of Rome written by Mr. Chang Nai-yeu in Chinese. The Chinese Minister announced that he is contemplating the writing of the history of Europe for the Chinese.—Reuter.

PROF. TANDLER RELEASED

SET FREE AFTER TEN DAYS

Vienna, Mar. 28.
Professor Julius Tandler, who was arrested in Vienna ten days ago after his return from Shanghai University, has been released. The arrest was apparently ordered as a precautionary step owing to Professor Tandler's association with the Social Democratic Party. He has a worldwide reputation as an anatomist and was formerly Chief of the Vienna Health Department.—Reuter.

DE VALERA SMILES

STATE DEPARTMENT WRONG

MR. McDOWELL'S CREDENTIALS

Washington, Mar. 28.
It now appears that the State Department was wrong in announcing that Mr. W. M. McDowell, new Minister to the Irish Free State, would present his credentials to the Governor-General in the usual way, and that his visit to Mr. de Valera was merely for the purpose of depositing duplicate credentials.

Mr. McDowell has called to the State Department reporting that he presented his credentials to Mr. de Valera.

He explains that he did so at the request of the Free State Government, who informed the American Legation that the matter had been discussed between the Irish and the British authorities and that the change in procedure had been agreed to by His Majesty the King.

Reuter's Dublin correspondent confirms this report.—Reuter.

MONTHS-OLD AGREEMENT.

Later.
It is stated in Dublin that arrangements were made between the British and Irish Governments some months ago that in future all representatives of foreign governments should present their credentials to Mr. de Valera, President of the Council and Foreign Minister, instead of to the Governor-General.—Reuter.

HOME RAILWAY COLLISION

WHY THERE WERE NO CASUALTIES

London, Mar. 28.
A mishap occurred at Doncaster during dense fog early this morning, when the London and North Eastern Railway night express from London to Edinburgh ran into another express which left London for the same destination seven minutes earlier. Three mail vans and a brake van were derailed. No passengers nor any of the train's crew were hurt, and the trains proceeded after fifty-eight minutes' delay. The cause of the accident is under investigation.

The escape from injury of the hundreds of passengers who were travelling in the trains involved is due to the fact that the steel frames of the coaches bore the shock of the impact.—British Wireless.

A thanksgiving service is to be held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Easter Sunday, at 3.30 p.m., in honour of the canonisation of St. John Bosco, the founder of the Salesian Community.

WAGE-RAISING IN AMERICA

Steel Companies and Labour Unrest

Washington, Mar. 29.
The Republic Iron and Steel and the National Tube companies announce a ten per cent. increase in wages from April 1 and it is generally believed that the U.S. Steel Corporation will follow suit, thus confirming reports that the entire steel industry will join a wage-raising movement to reduce labour unrest.—Reuter.

U.S. FLEET BEGINS TREK NORTH

ADMIRAL TO GO OVER THE FULTON

SHIP LEAVES MANILA

(Special to "Telegraph")
(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received March 29, 9.44 a.m.)

Manila, Mar. 29.
The United States Asiatic Fleet has started its annual northward trek, with the departure at six o'clock this morning of the flagship, the U.S.S. Augusta, which is bound for Shanghai.

It is probably that the Augusta, with Admiral Upham on board, will call at Hongkong in order to give the Admiral and his Staff an opportunity of inspecting the burned-out wreck of the U.S.S. Fulton.

The submarine-tender, U.S.S. Canopus, with her submarines, is leaving for Tsingtao via Shanghai on Monday, while the U.S.S. Black Hawk, together with a destroyer squadron of five ships will be leaving within the next fortnight for Japanese ports.—Reuter.

"FULTON" PLANS.

The U.S.S. Fulton will shortly leave Hongkong for Cavite, Manila, where she will undergo repairs and complete re-fit. She will be towed to Manila by the U.S.S. Pecos.

The U.S.S. Augusta is due from Manila to-morrow and will anchor in Junk Bay. Here the majority of the crew and officers of the Fulton will be transferred to her from the Asheville and she proceed to Shanghai.

The Hongkong Sharebrokers' Association is moving to No. 7 Ice House Street as from Saturday.

SPEED LIMIT TO BE RESTORED

IMPORTANT PROPOSALS IN NEW BILL

TOLL INCREASING

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, March 29, 9.28 a.m.)

LONDON, MARCH 28.
DRASTIC STEPS ARE CONTEMPLATED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO REDUCE THE TRAGICALY MOUNTING TOLL OF THE ROADS.

Proposals now before Parliament are experimental, it is indicated; if they do not accomplish the desired improvement, still more drastic legislation will be forthcoming.

One of the innovations will be a requirement of applicants for driving licences to undergo a test of competence. This is the normal practice in Hongkong, but it is new to Britain, where hitherto it has been purely a question of payment.

Cases have been known where licences have been issued to persons totally unfitted to drive for reason of physical disabilities.

Shocking official figures of the toll of the road in 1933 in comparison with those of 1932 were issued to-day, as follows:

	1933	1932
KILLED	7,200	6,667
INJURED	216,328	206,450
NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS	191,782	185,006

The official statement concerning the steady growth of tragedy on the roads states that the increases last year apply particularly to England and Wales.

Simultaneously with the publication of these figures, the Government issued the text of the new Road Traffic Bill, which is designed to deal with the problem.

One of the outstanding features of the Bill is the reintroduction of the speed limit, eliminated under the Morrison Bill.

The speed limit is to be fixed at thirty miles an hour in urban areas, namely, areas where "a system of street lighting is maintained."

The lower limits of traffic speeds will continue to apply to heavier vehicles, employed in the carriage of goods, which will also be required to carry a coloured disc for the purposes of identification.

New applicants for driving licences must pass a test of competence.

Another striking feature of the Bill concerns the authority which is given to local authorities to prescribe special crossing places for pedestrians at dangerous corners and go on. Failure to cross at these points will be an offence and pedestrians who do not comply will be liable to a fine.

The Minister of Transport is empowered to regulate the use of horns and similar appliances and it is understood that an experiment is to be made in this direction in London for the guidance of the police chiefs in other parts of the country.

It is foreshadowed that if the Bill does not succeed in reducing the number of accidents, more stringent measures will be adopted.—Reuter's Special Service.

DUKE OF YORK'S APPEAL.

London, Mar. 28.
The campaign for greater road safety which is being conducted by the National Safety First Association was opened to-day by Inspector A. Nicol being presented with the 4th Class Medal, for zealous work in the Traffic Department, by H. E. the Governor at the Police Force inspection yesterday. (Photo: Mee Cheung).

RELIGIOUS STRIFE

SERIOUS RIOTS IN AJODHYA

THREE MOSQUES ATTACKED

Lucknow, Mar. 28.
Three persons were killed and twenty injured in serious rioting to-day in the holy Hindu city of Ajodhya, near Fyzabad.

The crowds were entirely out of control for some considerable time and three mosques were damaged as the result of vandalistic attacks. Many houses were burned to the ground by the rioters.

It is understood that the trouble arose over the sacrifice of a cow by the community.—Reuter.

DR. RAJCHMANN RUMOURS

T. V. Soong Denies Likelihood of Resignation

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, March 28.
Mr. T. V. Soong last night denied the rumour in circulation that Dr. Rajchmann, League Adviser to the Chinese Economic Council, was proposing to resign. He supposed that Dr. Rajchmann's impending leave probably gave rise to this rumour.

Mr. Soong added that Dr. Rajchmann's return to Geneva was for the purpose of submitting a detailed report to the League of Nations on his work in China.—Central News.

DARK BLUES WIN THE GOLF

FIVE MATCHES TO FOUR IN SINGLES

London, Mar. 28.
Oxford defeated Cambridge in the inter-Varsity golf contest by eight and a half matches to six and a half.
The ten singles played over thirty-six holes were stubbornly contested, but Oxford managed to gain the odd match in nine, the tenth being halved.
Oxford won the fouromes yesterday by three matches to two.—Reuter.

BONUS DISPUTE ON K.C.R.

CHINESE SECTION CONTROVERSY

EMPLOYEES' COMPLAINT

(Special to "Telegraph")

Canton, Mar. 29.
A dispute between employees of the Canton-Kowloon Railway (Chinese section) and the Railway Administration on the question of bonus is threatening.

The dispute arises from the Administration decision to pay each worker a bonus for last year equal to one month's wages instead of one and a half as was originally intended, on the ground that railway revenues for last year were insufficient to meet the full bonus and interest obligations to British bondholders.

The workers declare that they have already suffered heavily by accepting their wages in Canton Provincial Government depreciated banknotes, and point to several other charges on their wages, such as contributions to the Relief Fund of the Chinese volunteers in Manchuria and special contributions to the National Aviation Development Fund.

The Railway Administration states that it cannot alter the decision until further instructions have been received from the Construction Department of the Canton Government, which is really responsible for the ruling.—Central News.

THE RELEGATION STRUGGLE

BIRMINGHAM MOVE UPWARD

London, Mar. 28.
Birmingham defeated Leicester City by three clear goals in the First Division of the English League to-day, earning two much needed points. Birmingham are among the clubs struggling to avoid relegation and they are now in a relatively safer position than clubs surrounding them, their remaining fixtures including more games at home than away.

In the Scottish League, Queen's Park failed badly at home, Aberdeen winning by five goals to one.—Reuter.

STOP PRESS

Washington, Mar. 28.
The Senate to-day voted 67 to 23 in favour of overriding the Presidential veto of the Independent Offices Bill, following the example of the House of Representatives.

Roosevelt vetoed the Bill because of amendments cancelling many of the provisions of the Economy Act of 1932, declaring that its passage would disturb the balance of the Budget.

Veterans bonuses are restored to within 25 per cent. of their former level and Federal employees are to receive an increase of pay instead of the decrease ordered under the Economy Act.

The Bill thus becomes law over the President's head.

The result of the division was greeted with loud cheering. The division followed an hour of impassioned and bitter debate.

One of the most outstanding speeches was that of Senator Glass, who declared, with tears in his eyes, that he had had two sons "Over There." He added: "I would disinherit them if I ever accepted a dollar from the Government, although they were in the front line trenches."

The roll-call showed that 83 Republicans, 29 Democrats and one Farmer-Labour member voted against the veto. The majority consisted solely of Democrats.—Reuter.

A Few Testimonials from Medical Authorities respecting the curative effects of

in Malarial Fever:

I am pleased to give you herewith my opinion on the merits of your world-famed preparation "Serravallo's Tonic" (Cinchona and Iron Wine), which I have used personally, and have prescribed it as well, with universal satisfaction. During the last one year, I was in Medical Charge of a D. P. W. Road Construction duty in one of the most malarious quarters here, which is called "The Kawareik-Myawaddy Road". Here the working class as well as the officers were equally suffering from this dreadful malady and I can very boldly say that I was the only solitary being there, who never had a single chill nor a slight increase of temperature. I attribute this to your valuable tonic. The price of your Tonic Wine did not enable me to place it within the reach of one and all, but I prescribed it freely to all the officers and other well-to-do men among the working class, who soon began to realize its untellable benefits. Men who could not even swallow one morsel of food, commenced to take plenty, and even went to the extent of saying that they could not appease their hunger with their usual supply. Pale faces soon underwent a plethoric appearance and the toneless system became more and more vigorous. To be brief, a daily use of your Tonic brought about in many, a marvellous immunity from "Malarial Fever." Now to sum up my experience, I can, without hesitation say that your "Serravallo's Tonic" is an all-round Tonic, a remarkable appetizer and a sure malarial prophylactic. Under its influence the blood is enriched and its remarkable palatability places it on the front rank of all the other tonics of a kindred nature we have in the market.

Dr. P. M.
C.M.S. Med. Officer, Kawareik (Lower Burma).

in Enteric Fever:

I have prescribed "Serravallo's Tonic" in cases of Anaemia resulting from Malarial Fever, and in convalescing cases of Enteric Fever, and have much pleasure in saying that the beneficial results from its use have been most marked. It is very palatable, and should hold its own against any of the Ferruginous Wines on the market.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF.

Creamy Cosmetics For Dry Skins

By Alicia Hart

Dry skins need, in addition to nourishment and adequate protection from sun and wind, cosmetics which have no drying effects.

For example, cream rouges are considered better than powdered ones for dry complexions. New cream rouges have about the same consistency as whipped cream. They blend easily, leaving no rough edges and give a smooth, velvet-like appearance to a skin which is otherwise pretty dry.

Always smooth on a foundation lotion or cream before you start to apply cream rouge. Here's a little rouge trick which probably will prove helpful to anyone who has trouble getting the edges smoothed out: Dip your forefinger lightly in your cleansing cream and then into the rouge pot. You'll find that the combination of the cream and rouge will aid you in blending the colour on your skin.

Buy your powder from a reliable manufacturer and try it before you make the purchase. The texture of face powder is just as important as the shade of it. Sometimes a heavier one, containing a little oil, is flattering to a dry skin.

If your lips are dry, use a creamy lipstick which will tend to keep them looking moist and freshly made up.

Perfect for general daytime wear is this dress of red crepe with black velvet tie and cuffs. The simplicity of line, interesting sleeves and paneled skirt ending in pleats are pleasing features.

Checked woollen, faille or velveteen are materials recommended for the smart and useful frock pictured here.

You will be proud to wear a frock like this one to any afternoon affair, for it is entirely new with its square shoulder treatment. It is assembled with ease out of crepe or faille.

You'll square your shoulders and hold your head high in this model you can make in light woollen or velvet. Size 18 requires 3 1-3 yards of 54-inch material, or 1 1-6 yards of 35-inch material for the sleeve and yoke portions plus 2 1-2 yards contrast for the waist and skirt.

Comfortable Shoes

Foot comfort has a lot to do with the beauty of your face and figure.

Shoes that are too tight or those which have the wrong arches can cause wrinkles and a bad posture more quickly than anything else. It is practically impossible to present a rested, calm, unlined face if your feet are aching and tired.

When you buy winter shoes make sure they are the right width and length and that the arches of them are suited to your feet. It is a good idea to have one pair of those with low or medium heels. Wear them at work or when you are doing a lot of walking. There was a time when low-heeled shoes were ugly, but now days some of our best manufacturers specialize in low-heeled footwear that is neither too flat-looking nor unfit for anything but hiking in the country. You can have evening shoes with medium heels, if you choose.

Whatever type you prefer, be sure that you can stand correctly once you get them on. You don't want your whole body to be thrown forward—neither do you want it to bend backward.

If you have a corn, pad it well with cotton before you start wearing a new pair of shoes. Do likewise with a bunion. With a little medical treatment and shoes that are long enough, the corn soon will disappear.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

KATHARINE
HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLITO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial home of millionaire JIM FIELD. When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives he falls in love with her almost at sight.

Pablito knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. As a child he ran away from ANGELA, the heartless old nurse in whose care he was left, since then he has lived with NORRIS NOYES, wanted by police for a murder years before.

TED JEFFRIES, a guest at the Field home, sees Noyes and recognizes him. Noyes flees to the swamp where he overheard a man and girl planning to rob the Field home during a masquerade party. Next evening Pablito gives Noyes money to go to Havana and promises to meet him there later. Pablito is planning to go to the masquerade in order to see Estelle.

CHAPTER IX

Pablito left the "Silver Dart" with a young man who was waiting to convert it into an ornate gondola. Then he made his way to the servants' quarters.

There he found excitement that was made manifest through loud talk and occasional high-pitched laughter. The servants were excited by the prospect of the good time of which they would have glimpses and also because it was rumoured that on this occasion Field intended to outdo past extravagances.

"Too bad you-all won't be here to-night," Jack commented.

"I've seen such parties before," Pablito answered.

"Not like this here one. This is the biggest yet."

Pablito picked up a sweater, sung out, "So long!" and turned toward the gate of the patio where Pete waited in the car the servants used.

They drove over sandy roads and through waste areas toward the strip of beach where Pablito always moored the small boat to which he had attached a power-engine. In this he waved goodbye to Pete, started the engine and muffled for home—the strip of land that would be lonely to-night. But it would not be for long, Pablito realized, smiling. At nine he would be coming back to the camp. Back to talk with Estelle if the fates were kind and he prayed they would be. Back to the glitter and to a masquerade that would be doubly real for him.

He planned some of the things he would say to her and said them half aloud. The screech of a swooping gull seemed to mock him and he replied to it in kind. Then, remembering, he turned his face toward the stretch of water beyond which lay Cuba. He had always hungered to go there and now he was going, but with a reluctance dimming his eagerness to view new scenes. There was often, he decided, an irony about one's granted wishes. By the time the goal was realized it was apt to seem less alluring. But he knew that Field had a big place outside of Havana. Perhaps—it was hardly possible—he might see Estelle there. At this prospect Pablito fell to dreaming again.

Suddenly he remembered Noyes. He hoped Noyes was comfortable and that he had kept enough money to insure meals and a roof that would cover him. Sometimes the stars were put out by rain and then one needed a roof. Pablito's brow furrowed, thinking of Noyes, who needed care.

But he could not be down-hearted for long on such a night and presently he was thinking of Estelle once more.

Field's camp at 10 that night was filled with a colourful throng—

ladies of Venice, toredadors, Pierrots, Columbines, nuns, priests, senoritas of old Spain. There were grown-ups turned to children just for the night. Russian royalty, Watteau milk maids, pirates, every variety of soldiers, Italian peasants, Sicilian fishermen, Lady Hamiltons, Bonapartes, Queen Elizabeths and many others. Bright hues, rich fabrics and fantastic designs were to be seen on all sides. There was a wide range in the costumes because of the wide range in personal tastes. And back of all the revelry was the grandeur made by a man who saw no reason against spending money except the lack of it to spend.

Pablito pulled his small boat to shore and walked to the camp. This took half an hour in spite of the fact that he knew the way perfectly and walked swiftly. He had been reassured and given courage by his appearance. His physique lent itself well to the garb he had chosen and, with his light hair covered, the brown of his skin made him indeed seem the Spaniard who walks calmly into the ring smelling of blood and dust, a short-handled, keen-edged weapon in his quick, nervous hand.

Pablito had not forgotten the dagger. He had plunged it into his sash so that only the hilt showed. Within a little distance of the camp he heard music and stopped at the edge of a stunted pine woods to adjust his mask. Suddenly he had a curious conviction that someone was nearby watching him. But he could see no one and went on quickly.

After he had disappeared a girl's voice said, "No one but a floater would come from this way."

A man answered her roughly, "If anyone else is planning our little game he'll come out at the short end!"

"What'll you do about it?"

"I'll watch him. I had a good look at him and if I see him again I'll know him."

The girl shivered from nervousness. "I don't like it," she said. "I got a funny feeling, Beau." The words seemed to have become a chant with her.

The man answered, by cursing her with sincere and deep feeling.

Pablito knew how Estelle was going to be dressed. He had learned this from the maids who always approached him on the least excuse to coquette and try to exact from him some slight show of interest. There was something about the youth which, coupled with his physical attractiveness, made him the target for concerted feminine advances.

Estelle, he had been told, was to be a wood dryad, clothed in green and carrying musical pipes of the sort with which Pan is said to have disported. She was to wear her hair hanging loose and bound with a garland. Her feet and legs would be bare.

One of the servants had begun to make a comment about this costume but had halted it abruptly at a long and coldly appraising stare from Pablito. Early in the days of Pablito's employment at the camp there had been an occasion when he had laid low another servant named Zeke. Up until that moment Zeke, who had a quick, ungovernable temper, had had things very much his own way, thrashing anyone who disagreed with him. The affair had established a reputation for the blond youth and after that Pablito went his way unchallenged. The other servants were careful not to say anything they had reason to feel he would dislike.

Having made his way through a fringe of scraggly, under-nourished fir trees, Pablito found himself looking at the beginning of the party.

The setting was more dazzling than he had dreamed it could be, in spite of his knowledge of tropic nights and their power, even unaided, to enchant.

He did not at first see the one for whom he was looking. "Doubtless she was standing somewhere in a corner looking on, a little shy and conscious of her bare legs and feet.

The music flared forth then and up the beach he saw dancing on the huge platform that had been erected for that purpose.

A girl in a Spanish costume and a man in the costume of a torcador moved through the crowd about this time. The girl walked too well. There was a rhythmic undulation of her shoulders, a sinuous sway of her hips that made one of the New York guests think of a small salon with gray walls and sedate draperies where manikins paraded to display French costumes. "Clever, that!" the woman said admiringly, as she looked after the girl and the stocky, short man beside her. "Fancy the wit that would make one disguise one's walk!"

Her companion shook his head, smiling a little. "Field has all sorts of friends," he said. "She may not be disguising her walk after all!"

The girl who had passed them was saying anxiously to her companion, "Do you know where he is now?"

The man answered her with a sullen, "Yes."

"Watcha goin' to do, Beau, if he walks off with the best before we begin to comb the place?" she questioned in a whisper that was made shrill by nervousness.

"Mind your business, will you, and I'll tend to mine!" the man responded in an angry undertone. "If you must know it, he's goin' to leave with us to-night! I'll fix it some way. I generally can fix things when I hafta, can't I?"

"Yes," the girl agreed, lifelessly. She knew that well.

TRADE WITH SOVIET.

BRITAIN'S ADVANTAGE BY AGREEMENT

London, Mar. 28.

Effects of the Anglo-Russian Trade Agreement are conspicuously shown in the February commercial returns. Russian purchases in Great Britain for this month are 34 per cent. above those of last year.

The following is a list of comparative figures for February of 1934 and 1933:

Machinery, £64,075 against £35,127;

Textiles, £17,155 against £205; Rubber, £189,365 against £6,097; Tea, £175,834 against £32,864;

STRAINED RELATIONS.

SOVIET SUBJECTS SENT BACK TO RUSSIA

Harbin Mar. 28.

Nine Soviet Russian subjects, employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway, were charged as agitators this morning.

The information against them was to the effect that they were implicated in plotting against the state of Manchukuo.

For these alleged conspiracies, they were ordered to be deported. They will be sent to Russia.

M. Slavutsky, Russian Consul-General here, visited the Foreign Minister of Manchukuo, and strongly protested against the action of the court, declaring that the men were innocent and that the charges against them had not been proved.

The situation is expected to strain still further the already unhealthy relations between Russia and Japan.—Reuter.

Suspected also as a Hitler agent, Marianne Kupfer, Hungarian opera singer, above, comes into the investigation of the weird mystery of the Stavisky pawnshop scandal in France. Police are investigating Mlle. Kupfer's relations with Stavisky.

Excavating for their cars was the unpleasant task of hundreds of New York motorists after the heaviest blizzard of the winter swept the metropolitan area. Here a hapless driver is attempting to rescue his car from a towering drift that has covered it at Baisley Park, Long Island.

When Detroit gazes at this gleaming tower of ice, it's been a long, hard winter. The city's famed fountain rose higher than for many years, an infallible weather gauge, according to residents.

Their roofs piled high with snow and giant icicles hanging from the windows, trains "limped" into the Jamaica, Long Island, station, hours late, in the blizzard that recently paralyzed transportation in the New York City area. Here are shown a highly decorated train that arrived after a long struggle through much inland drift.

Unbelievable...but true!

BLOOD AND RACE

whole, tolerated a variety of opinions and manners such as is found in few other nations. It turns out that the proportion in which various characters occur in a race is quite as typical as are the traits common to all its members.

A recent German textbook, Lehmann's "Rassenkunde," puts down the perils of Albion to the fact that we number among our ancestors the races who lived in Britain before the Anglo-Saxon—and even the Celtic—invasions. For this reason, we are told, the Germans find us unsympathetic. Perhaps we might hope to gain their esteem if we exiled all persons with one Welsh grandparent. But it may be that the mixture has gone too far for such treatment to remedy, and we must resign ourselves to a hopeless admiration of the Germans.

We are not a pure race, and never shall be. For after hybridisation a pure race can only be re-established by very intense selection, such as took place in the formation of the thoroughbred horse and the Sealyham terrier. It may be that for those few nations, such as Sweden, which can claim some approach to racial homogeneity, a political system based on racial purity is desirable. But we are cast in many different moulds, and any political theory which does not take cognisance of this diversity of talents is not merely a delusion, but a danger to the nation.

You Cannot Avoid Crowds But You Can Avoid Colds!

In theatres, cinemas, dance halls and at sporting events, as well as in trams, buses and trains, we are continually exposed to the risk of catching colds, coughs, and throat affections.

Respiroids, the new inhalant lozenges, provide an effective barrier against coughs and colds, and minimise the risk of infection. They are pleasant to take, and are so designed that their curative elements are conveyed immediately to the nasal passages, throat and lungs, where the risk of infection is greatest. Carry them with you; they are convenient for the pocket, and are prepared for their immediate use when you encounter a crowd. Respiroids are obtainable from medicine vendors everywhere, or direct at $1.20 per bottle post-free, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 461, Kiangleo Road, Shanghai.

NEW TERRITORY
PRODUCE

Whilst full credit must be given for the painstaking work of the Committee appointed by the Government to enquire into the local marketing of New Territories produce, we imagine that the reaction of the average reader of its Report will be that there has been too great a disposition on the part of the investigators to accept conditions as they are. It must be conceded that there has in latter years been a big improvement in the facilities offered for the bringing of produce into Kowloon and Hongkong, and in that respect the existing organisation may, as the Committee claims, be said to function in an effective manner. It is not on the question of transport arrangements that doubts arise, but the facts and figures revealed in the Report do raise a query whether the actual producer gets a fair share of the profits accruing from his enterprise and labour. Before his products reach the consumer, quite a number of middlemen have to be recompensed, each taking off a considerable percentage. The system involved is typically Chinese in character, and of a somewhat complicated nature. It may, for this reason, be difficult to break down. Even the producer himself would appear to view suggested new methods with some measure of scepticism. Even so, the thought does suggest itself that there will not be any really marked expansion of the market locally until sufficient inducement is forthcoming for the producer to embark on a bigger scale. The exhibits at the annual agricultural shows and at the Empire Fair have shown that really excellent products can be grown on the mainland, and with the wider adoption of modern methods of cultivation there is every reason to believe that the standard could be even more greatly improved. But there must be a sufficient inducement. The problem is mainly a financial one, and it would surely be in the Colony's interest, making it less dependent on outside sources, if the Government could evolve some satisfactory financial plan whereby a greater percentage of profit would go to the producer than is at present the case. In course of time, under favourable conditions, there might spring into being across the harbour a big community earning its living on the land and helping to make the Colony more self-supporting in the matter of the necessities of life. The situation seems to call for the planning of a big Government-aided scheme, based on the same principles which are being put into force on behalf of agriculture in England at the present time.

NOTES OF THE DAY

U.S. AIR MAILS

President Roosevelt's virtual capitulation on the air mail contract issue will not be accompanied by any loss of personal prestige. On the contrary, a strong feeling exists in the United States that the arbitrary cancellation overstepped the mark, and that the decision to restore the air mails to private concerns as soon as possible is necessary to put matters right. There was, after all, not a shadow of reflection on the men who were actually doing the work. And those with financial control who brought about the muddle by intrigue and graft have probably learned a lesson.

GREAT RECORD

The American air mail pilots themselves made one of the finest records in the history of aviation. They have been good, superlatively good, at a job calling for skill, coolness, and devotion. From the standpoint of physical service, they made the American air mail network one of the finest things of its kind in all the world—if not the very finest. Similarly, the technicians, the designers, the men who built the planes and the engines, the operating officials who arranged schedules and issued assignments, repair men and service men and wireless and weather experts—all filled their difficult jobs with distinction.

WRONG FINANCES

The troubles that led to the wholesale cancellation of contracts were, in fact, in no way due to the men who were doing the actual work of flying the mails. From a purely physical viewpoint, the air mail organisation was a thing of which the whole country could be proud. Where, then, was the trouble? It arose solely from the fact that this magnificent edifice of service rested on the wrong kind of financial base. In some cases—not in all, by any means—the men at the very top were less concerned with doing an important job in an efficient manner than with making two dollars grow where one had grown before. To put it more simply, the fact that a few men were greedy was enough to nullify all the skill, the courage, and the devotion to duty which the great mass of employees put into their jobs.

YOUNG HEADS

The appointment of a new headmaster to Harrow at the age of forty-three is not quite the novelty suggested although Dr. Veilacott is one of the youngest men to get the Harrow appointment. It may, however, be recalled that last year a new head was appointed to Uppingham at the age of twenty-seven. The spirit underlying such a policy is greatly to be applauded. To-day the generations are separated by deeper gulfs than before, and it would not be hard to think of public schools that have been terribly lowered in vitality because elderly masters have too long continued to rule boys they had ceased to understand.

ECONOMISING ON JUSTICE

The constitutional aspect of the reduction of Judges' salaries, which the Lord Chancellor expounded recently is doubtless an important one, but the vital consideration for Britain is that an under-paid Bench will not in the long run continue to be manned by the best intellects of the law. A loss of quality in British justice would be a sacrifice utterly incommensurable with the few thousand pounds saved by the present retrenchment.

The high responsibilities laid upon the Bench were illustrated by the overruling of an insidious claim of privilege for certain kinds of police reports. The doctrine that such a document might be withheld from a court of law on the Home Secretary's certificate that its disclosure would be against the public interest might be made to shelter a great deal of arbitrary officialism and carries danger upon the very face of it. Mr. Justice Macnaghten made a useful little bit of history in ruling that the interpretation of the public interest must lie with the Court and not with the Department.

GOOD HARD WORK

One of the latest Nazi decrees requires that all boys and girls who desire to enter German universities must serve at least six months in Nazi labour camps, toiling with pick and shovel just like any proletarian wage-earner. This ruling just has been in Berlin, and in many ways it looks like an excellent idea. The lad who is permitted to attend a university is privileged. He is presumably fitting himself for life-long emancipation from backbreaking physical toil. It is not, therefore, an unsound scheme which would require him first to find out by actual experience what manual labour means. It may serve two useful purposes, help him to understand the viewpoint and the problems of those less fortunate than himself; enable him better to estimate how lucky he is.

BLOOD, AND RACE

Danger of Political Theories Based on Delusion
By PROFESSOR J. B. S. HALDANE, F.R.S.

POPULAR belief, as embodied in language, connects blood with racial origin. We speak of a man having negro blood on his mother's side, and so on. It is worth examining such phrases at the present time, when the rulers of Germany are basing their politics on a particular theory of race. Can race be determined by examining the blood?

A microscopical examination will not help us. Human blood corpuscles differ in size from those of most other animals, and in shape from some. But the human races do not differ. A few families in the United States have oval corpuscles like camels and llamas, but this peculiarity is found both in white and coloured people. I cannot forbear from suggesting it as a clue in a detective story. The super-detective uses a microscope, and pronounces it that of a camel. The super-super-detective, having read this article, discovers that the blood is human and belonged to the missing heir, in whose family such corpuscles were hereditary.

More important hereditary differences were found when blood transfusion became a practical proposition. Some people have on their corpuscles a chemical substance which is named isagglutininogen A—a hideous example of scientific jargon. If such corpuscles are injected into the veins of a person who does not carry A, they will clump together, and may cause his death. In order to find out whether this will happen it is sufficient to add the corpuscles of the donor to the serum of the recipient, and inspect the result with a hand-lens. Another substance called B behaves in the same way.

Similarly some, but not all, corpuscles carry a substance called P reacting with horse serum, and a number of other such agglutinogens are being found, at the rate of about two a year, which are present in some people but not in others. It is enough to examine a single drop of blood to find out whether these substances are present.

In all these cases the laws of inheritance are very simple. In technical language the presence of an agglutinogen is dominant over its absence. This implies, among other things, that the proportion of a population in which it is found remains constant, and that no one ever possesses an agglutinogen not present in one of his or her parents.

This latter fact has an immediate application in cases of doubtful paternity. By testing for the agglutinogens so far known it would be possible to prove non-paternity of an innocent man in most, but not all, cases. Unfortunately, many of the necessary sera are not at present available in Britain, as the main work on these substances has been done in foreign countries.

When the bloods of different races are compared we do not find any one agglutinogen invariably present in a race, though it is quite possible that we shall do so in future when more of these substances are known. But we do find very marked differences in the proportion of people who carry them. Thus, in England, about fifty per cent. carry A, and only ten per cent. B, whereas in Canton only twenty-nine per cent. carry A and thirty-one per cent. B.

These proportions are unaffected by climate. Thus, in Hungary the gypsies have the blood characteristic of Northern India, the Germans that characteristic of Germany, while the Magyars resemble no other people of Central or Western Europe, but find their closest resemblance in South Russian and Central Asia.

A single individual gives no information. One can merely say that such and such a combination is twice as likely to be found in a Lapp as in an Englishman. It is only when a sample of several hundred people has been examined that the racial characteristics begin to show up.

If we make a world map for the racial distribution of the substances concerned in blood transfusion (and, unfortunately, no maps are yet available for the others), certain facts stare us in the face. The B substance is rare or absent in Australian aborigines and in the native races of America, save for a few groups mostly on the Chilean coast, who may carry Polynesian blood. Elsewhere the proportion diminishes as we go out from a focus in Central Asia, in the Punjab about 50 per cent. carry it. The figure is nearly as high in Soviet Turkestan, so the maximum very likely lies in the mountains between Any arthropologist who is tired of life would be well advised to try bleeding a few hundred Afghans in order to test this hypothesis.

Over much of Asia and some of Africa 35 per cent. or more of the population carry B, and this high B area stretches into Europe as far as the Ukraine as a result of Tartar invasions. The 20 per cent. contour line includes all Asia, but runs through Germany and the Balkans, while in our own islands and the Atlantic seaboard the proportion falls to about 10 per cent. These figures very clearly point to an emigration from Central Asia, which began after man arrived in America and Australia, but of which only a few stragglers reached Western Europe.

The racial theorists of the National Socialist Party demand the expulsion of the Jews as being "vorder-Asiatisch." It is, therefore, interesting to note that, while the Jews of Central Germany have rather more of the B substance than the British, they have considerably less than the inhabitants of East Prussia, in whose blood Asiatic ancestors have left considerable traces.

So far as blood is an index, there are no pure races, though some American Indian tribes are nearly homogeneous. A race is a characteristic mixture. It is not unlikely that, in the case of some of the great mixed races, such as the British, Spaniards, and Russians, the same is true as regards those more important hereditary traits which, along with tradition in its widest sense, determine character and intellect. There is no such thing as a characteristic British mind any more than there is a characteristically British blood group or hair colour.

On the contrary, it has been our fortune that great opportunities have called to characteristically different men, a Knox, a Pitt, a Disraeli, a Lloyd George; that our poets have been as different as Donne, Pope, and Swinburne, and that, perhaps in response to this innate diversity, we have, on the

The Very Idea!

WOULD YOU LIKE TO
SEE OUR OPERATION?

We were only too conscious of the pitiful inadequacy of our arms.

A rusty, hiltless sword; a cracked and dented shield; a visorless helmet; and a breastplate that let large portions of a torn shirt flap dependent in the breeze, were sad accompaniments for he who would battle for the life of the sacrificial virgin.

There, but a rood or two away, she hung in the chains with which the burghers had fastened her to the exterior of the city's ponderous gates.

And here, his half-mill of legs a blur, his foul maw vomiting flame and sulphur fumes, came the dragon, ravening for his morning meal of damosel.

Death lurked in every quiver of his wings—in every cymbal clash of his stings.

Even as we stood transfixed my trusty steed bolted for the shelter of the city walls.

An almost uncontrollable impulse to follow him seized us. But, one glance at the drooping form clad in its girlish white banished the craven intention.

And then she spoke.

"Sack him one in the smeller!" came her gentle accents.

Accompanied by the ring of a sword whirled from its scabbard we dashed into the fray. Even as the fiend darted upon her the good blade buried itself in his jaw. With a roar that made the burghers blanch he wheeled off.

The maiden lifted her voice.

"Hoorny! Atta baby! Kick his greasy boko in!" she crooned.

Not for long did we enjoy a breathing spell. The foul beast barked, and, with wings flapping thunderously, nosedived upon us. The crash as we engaged prostrated the more nervous among the cannallie lining the walls.

We piled the sword valiantly. Hugo hunk of dragon-meat flew at every stroke. His blood, black and sowersted, spouted forth in cascades.

"Stick him in the gizzard!" spake the prospective breakfast.

Her voice spurred us to prodigies of butchery. We lifted the sword in both hands and smote at his scaly throat.

There was a frightful jar—the blade snapped off short, leaving us nothing but our bare hands to fight with.

Undaunted we grasped one of his jaws in each hand and strove mightily to tear them asunder. But, without our sword, our struggles were useless.

He wrapped his octopus-like legs around us. Tighter and tighter grew his grasp, while his fiery breath roasted our flesh from the bones. We felt the breastplate snap; and then, one by one, our ribs. A great blackness descended as the sulphur fumes ate into our brain.

"Aw, you big mug! You couldn't knock a sick hen off an egg!" cooed the maiden.

Then the blackness lifted. We felt strangely weak and ill and smelly. From somewhere near a rough, exasperated voice was saying:

"If all fellows coming out of chloroform were like this one I wouldn't be a doctor for a thousand a week!"

Prognostication

We're very much inclined to think, if present trends of fashion thrive,
That slacks and shorts may be "non est"
By nineteen thirty-five.
Instead we'll have a body-paint, Sprayed on with pumps from bowlers.
And trousers will be only worn
By quite old fashioned bowlers.

His Victory

She weighed fourteen stone. He only weighed eight.

She owned their children. He only watched them grow.

She spent his wages. He only worked for them.

She bought his clothes. He only wore them, or some of them.

In every way, through twenty years of married life, she ruled and he obeyed.

Then he took the initiative and, quite without prompting, became ill.

He nursed and cursed him.

He said, "I'm going to die."

She said, "You're not."

He died.

Which proves that the worm will turn.

SINO-AMERICAN TREATY

SHANGHAI CHAMBER AND IMMIGRATION

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, March 28. In a communication to the Nan-king Foreign Office, the Shanghai Chinese Chamber of Commerce draws the attention of the authorities to special points concerning the proposed revision of the Sino-American Commercial Treaty.

The message stresses the importance of correcting abuses arising out of the execution of the American Immigration Law. The Chamber states that if the United States Government cannot be persuaded to modify its regulations for the treatment of Chinese labourers, at least the meaning of "merchant" must be clearly defined in any revised Sino-American Commercial Treaty, in order to prevent arbitrary interpretation by the United States Government in its application of the Immigration Law to Chinese.—Central News.

AIRSHIP LINES

OCEAN SERVICES TO OPERATE SOON.

London, Mar. 28. Within a brief space, of time giant airships will be crossing the Atlantic, linking Europe with America and the Far East by three different routes, declared Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous German airship designer and commander, during an address in London last night.

Dr. Eckener prophesies new rapid-transit developments in the air in which ships of the type of the Graf Zeppelin, which he has piloted across the world and across the Atlantic Ocean on numerous occasions, will be put to schedule.

The first airship service, he said, would be between Friedrichshafen, Germany, and Rio de Janeiro. The second line would link Rio de Janeiro and Washington, and Europe; and the third route would be from America to a junction somewhere in the Pyrenees, in all probability, and thence to the Dutch East Indies. The last-named service would possibly operate from a base in Washington, D. C., he said.

Huge Air Liners.

The three services contemplated by Dr. Eckener would require four big ships, each of which would carry fifty passengers, half a ton of mail and between 15 and 20 tons of high class freight.

Dr. Eckener's prognostication carries weight. It is well-known that he and others connected with the airship industry have long contemplated the inauguration of trade routes between Europe and South America. The Graf Zeppelin has already proved its efficiency in maintaining schedule across the South Atlantic.

Dr. Eckener is a pioneer in the flying field. He was Count Zeppelin's first pilot and during the war trained many of Germany's most able flying men. Although a veteran, now 65 years of age, Dr. Eckener still commands the Graf on her experimental flights.—Reuter.

NEAR TRAGEDY

TRAINS COLLIDE IN BRITAIN

London, Mar. 28. Two holiday express trains, from London to Edinburgh, with hundreds of sleeping passengers on board, collided in a dense fog at 2 o'clock this morning, just outside Doncaster.

There were no casualties. The fact that not a single person was injured puts the accident into the category of the miraculous. The first train had been held up by the fog signal and the second, travelling at a high rate of speed, crashed into the back of it.

The engine smashed through a refrigerator van, laden with meat and other perishables, tore the parcel van wide open and scattered the contents far and wide, and still unchecked, splintered the mail van.

But when the engine reached the all-steel coaches, in which the passengers were crowded, it was checked. Their heavy frames resisted the shock.

Amidst the wreckage the crew of the second train rushed forward through the fog anticipating calamity. To their amazement they were met by investigating officials from the train ahead who reported that no-one had been hurt.—Reuter.

DODGING ARREST.

INSULT HEADING FOR RUMANIAN PORT?

Istanbul, Mar. 28. The steamer Majotis, presumably with Mr. Samuel Insull still on board, passed Chanak, in the Dardanelles, at 8 o'clock this morning.

The Captain of the vessel declared they were proceeding to a Rumanian port.

Mr. Insull is dodging arrest on charges of fraud emanating from the United States and has been aboard the Majotis since his hurried departure from Greece.—United Press.

NAZIS BAN FILM.

JEWESS IN LEADING ROLE OF BRITISH PICTURE

London, Mar. 28. The banning of the British film "Catherine the Great" in Germany because the title role is played by Elizabeth Bergner, a Jewess, was raised by a member in the House of Commons to-day. The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, in reply, said that the Federation of British Industries, acting on behalf of the film company, was engaged in correspondence with the German authorities with a view to obtaining a reconsideration of the ban placed on the film.

Sir John Simon added that he had called the attention of the German Embassy in London to the incident, and expressed the hope that the correspondence now being carried on by the film company will have a satisfactory settlement.—Reuter.

ENGLISH TEAM BACK FROM INDIA

Plymouth, Mar. 28. The Marylebone Cricket Club touring eleven arrived home to-day, minus only one man, Jardine, who is staying on in India in order to do some shooting.

The manager said the tour had been a complete success. The Indian eleven, he added, had greatly improved, but he was unable to say whether they would ever reach Australian or English standards. Body-line bowling was not used in India, which may have been one of the reasons for the success and friendliness of the tour, he said.—Reuter.

TREVESSA TROPHY

Tjisorea Crew Wins For Third Time

The Tjisorea crew (2nd Officer L. Molendyk) had an easy victory in the Trevesa Trophy race for merchant ships' lifeboats yesterday afternoon, winning by about 800 yards from the Hang Sang crew (T. Goddard).

There was very little breeze, and from the starting line off Channel Rock to Kowloon Rock and back to the mark boat off the H. K. Yacht Club, the ships had to rely almost entirely on the rowing abilities of their crews. From the mark boat to the starting line the boats made good time with the light breeze.

There were ten entries in all, the winner being the only J. C. J. I. Lifeboat. Butterfield and Swire's entered five boats and Jardine Matheson's four. The Tjisorea took the lead from the start and at the Kowloon Rock had established a lead of about fifteen lengths. She downed all from this point to the mark boat against a head wind and made extremely good time over the remainder of the course. The distance of the race was just over four miles and the Tjisorea's time was 45 mins. 40 secs.

TROPHY PRESENTED.

The race was watched with interest by Commodore Frank Elliott and a large gathering of spectators. At the clubhouse following the race the Vice-Commodore, Mr. H. S. Rouse said: "We have just seen the twenty-first race for the 'Trevesa' Trophy for merchant ships' lifeboats, presented in recognition of the warlike conduct of the officers and crew of the Tjisorea and with the object of fostering an interest amongst the Mercantile Marine plying out of Hongkong in the handling of ship's boats."

The race this afternoon was well supported. The entries numbered ten, which is a little above the average. We have had as many as fourteen and as few as six. This is the third time the good ship Tjisorea has carried off the trophy and this is the seventh time it has been won by the Dutch line.

Having witnessed 19 of the twenty-one races, I must say I give the palm for rhythm to the Dutch crews. If they get a little out of time it is quickly rectified.

We were rather unfortunate in not having as much wind as we had in the last three or four races, and it must have been a considerable strain to the crews contesting. The time recorded by the winning crew is extremely good under the prevailing conditions."

On behalf of the Yacht Club, Mr. Rouse extended a hearty welcome to members of the Mercantile Marine who had turned out for the race.

Capt. A. R. McEachran, Marine Superintendent of Messrs Butterfield and Swire, presented the trophy to Mr. Molendyk, coxswain of the winning crew, the latter suitably replying.

Cambridge
Ice Hockey Team JinxLOSE ALL NINE MATCHES

London. Nine matches, played—nine matches lost; goals for seven; goals against, 52!

It reads like a Chelsea director's nightmare, but actually the unhappy possessors of that record are Cambridge University's Ice Hockey team, who have withdrawn from the League.

The Light Blues, however, are anxious to correct the impression that people may get, that those two things are cause and effect. The real reason why they have to leave the Ice Hockey League is that the University authorities have put their foot down on any more late leave for their members. As the Cantabs have been journeying to and from Purley, London, where their ice rink is, all this season, their late passes have been entirely exhausted.

ICE RINK.

It is understood that this state of affairs may be remedied in the early future, for a syndicate has been formed, with the necessary capital, to build an ice rink in the University town. The site is the only thing not yet decided upon.

The rink will be an open-air one, so that matches can be played by daylight.

The new rules announced from the world meeting at Milan will have the effect of making ice hockey, already the fastest game, faster still next season.

FORWARD PASS ATTACK.

The forward pass in the attacking zone has been tried out here in the last few months, and its effect on scoring has been marked.

In Canada, where the rule was tried out as early as last season, there have been several complications. Some opportunist forwards have been taking the puck up to their opponents goal with one of their own men just ahead of them.

They then take the shot between the legs of the man in front, which completely upsets the goal-minder. Hence the new clause about obscuring the goalkeeper's vision.

Mausang (A. Dunn) 27ft. 9 ins, 0.55.30. 4.
Mausang (Sev. Minshall) 27ft. 8 ins, 0.55.37. 5.

The other entries were Nanning (P. Billing) 25ft.; Sunning (L. Moore), 25ft. 1 in.; Sheng King (G. Wright) 25ft.; Shantung (R. Fikine), 25ft. 8 ins; Kwai Yang (H. Hopper) 25ft., 8 ins.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

The most adventurous of all film expeditions to the Arctic was undertaken by a company from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios headed by Col. W. S. Van Dyke, to record in photography and sound that great epic of the North, "Eskimo." The picture, which will have its first local screening on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre, presents not only a stirring and engrossing panorama of the life with its dangers and hardships of the natives living in the icy regions, but also is the first photoplay to treat of the Eskimo's strange code of morals which permits the turning of one's wife to one's friend and the exchanging of wives freely. It is this extraordinary "matrimonial code" which provides the story's powerful theme.
Mala, the principal character of "Eskimo," has two wives and while he does not mind lending his wife to his brother Eskimon, he deeply resents the lecherous desires of a white captain of a whaling ship, an antagonism which ultimately culminates in a murder. A few statistics on the preparations and accomplishments of the trip made to film this remarkable picture, enough to stagger the imagination. The journey covered more than 13,000 miles from Hollywood to Point Barrow and return. The company boarded the whaling schooner "Nanuk" at Nome, proceeded to Point Barrow, north-most point inhabited by man where the boat was frozen in for the winter, and later returned with the breaking up of the ice in the spring. They took with them some fifty tons of food, sleds, dog harnesses, furs, medical stores and trade goods for paying off the Eskimos. Captain Peter Frey-chen, author of the book, also served as guide and technical expert with Col. Van Dyke directing. Edward Hearn was assistant director and the cameramen were Clyde De Vinna, Joseph Roberts and George Nogle, who were Van Dyke's cameramen in "Trader Horn" and "White Shadows."

"Chance at Heaven"

Marian Nixon forsakes the paths of screen righteousness for the first time in her career to play a siren in "Chance at Heaven." The transformation occurs in the company of Jolee McGraw, Ginger Rogers, Andy Devine and a notable supporting cast at the King's Theatre in an RKO-Radio Picture. McGraw is the victim of Miss Nixon's vixenish activity when she lures him away from Ginger Rogers, the girl he is to marry. She makes a successful conquest through and McGraw and Marian are married after an elopement.
How Ginger gets her man back develops after a series of intriguingly romantic experiences for the triangle.
William Selter directed "Chance at Heaven" from Julian Josephson and Sarah Y. Mason's adaptation of the popular "Liberty Magazine" serial by Vina Delmar.

"Footlight Parade"

Great secrecy surrounded the making of one of the big musical numbers featured in "Footlight Parade." Warner Bros. third in their succession of big musical pictures which opened simultaneously yesterday at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres.
After preliminary announcement from Busby Berkeley, creator of the musical numbers in "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" to the effect that he planned a "water number" for the new picture that would outdo any previous screen effect he has originated, the grand stage where he worked was closed to the public and to all studio employees except those actually employed there. The surprise number in the water scene has never been disclosed and will not be known until the picture is shown. This number is one of the spectacles in a musical comedy replete with unique ensembles. In addition, there is a fascinating romance in the drama of backstage life enacted by an all star cast including Jimmy Cagney, Jean Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell,
Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly and Claire Dodd. The picture was directed by Lloyd Bacon from the screen play by Manuel Seff and James Seymour. The five hit songs were written by the teams of Harry Warren and Al Dubin and Irving Kahal and Sammy Fain.

"Bed of Roses"

She played with fire without getting scorched and she separated amorous gentlemen from their bank-rolls with her seductive artifice. Yet Constance Bennett plunges into a "Bed of Roses" with thorns when she falls in love in the RKO-Radio Picture coming to the King's Theatre on Friday with Joel McCrea and John Halliday.
Lorry Evans emerges from the reformatory determined to seek happiness by going straight—straight into some millionaire's penthouse and pocketbook. She lands Stephen Vance, a wealthy publisher, who offers her a luxurious life without love in exchange for her beauty. Her exchange becomes listless and she returns to Dan, a towboat captain, with whom she falls deeply in love. Happiness is almost hers when she is advised against marrying Dan without revealing her past life. She is distraught, fearing Dan's loss if she tells him the whole truth. "Bed of Roses" presents Bessie Bennett in the alluring and novel characterization of Lorry. McCrea and Halliday have romantic lead honours as Dan and Vance. Pert Kelton and Samuel Hinds are featured in other prominent roles under Gregory La Cava's direction.

CLEAN FOOTBALL JOCK SUTHERLAND FAMOUS PITT COACH

ENDS and backs who have to go down for passes get quite a few hard knocks from opponents on pass defense who, too often, are out to get the receiver rather than the ball. Of course, illegal interference is promptly penalized when seen by the official, but a penalty will in no way save the injuries. Receivers, therefore, should be taught how to "take it"—how to go up after a pass, get knocked down hard, and still be able to get up. Rules from the waist up and have the arms and the body soft and liquid. Wrists must be relaxed and the hands and arms should be set, although not tensed, to gather in the ball when it reaches the passer. If knocked down, a relaxed body gets bruised much less quickly than a tensed one. Sketch shows the way to catch a pass.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

Never take it for granted that a suit is going to break for you. If you have a safer play, try that first, always leaving the hoped-for "good breaks" as a last resort.

Perhaps in the meantime your opponents will accommodate you with a satisfactory discard or with definite information that will show you another play.

Some players, over the two hearts bid, might think the South hand strong enough to jump to three spades. However, I prefer the conservative response of two spades.

As soon as North bids three diamonds, however—showing a second suit—South has a fit in diamonds and a control in hearts, and immediately should invite the slam with a bid of four spades.

North, with his singleton club and three spades, can go to six spades—to go to five is asking his partner to assume the responsibility.

However, few players can resist the temptation, after a five bid, of going to six.

The Play

West's opening lead was the jack of diamonds, which was won in dummy with the ace. Of course, if the declarer leads the queen of hearts, trying for the finesse, his contract will be defeated immediately, as West will win with the king of hearts and then lay down the king of clubs.

The declarer can see that, if the diamond suit establishes, a losing heart can be discarded. So, before taking what may prove to be a losing finesse, the declarer should lead the three of clubs.

East will jump right in with the ace and now, regardless of what he returns, the contract can be made.

Suppose he leads back a heart—the declarer must go right in with the ace, ruff the losing nine of clubs, and then start the spade suit. West is all right on the first two discards, as he can release the ten of hearts and the king of clubs, but when South lays down the sixth spade, West is squeezed.

If he discards the king of hearts, dummy's queen will be good.

WAITING ASSENT

SHIPPING MERGER BILL PASSES LORDS

London, March 28.
The Cunard-White Star Merger
Bill was read a third time in the House of Lords to-day and approved.
The measure is now awaiting royal assent.

This Bill provides for Government assistance, to the extent of £9,500,000, in building the giant liner "634" and another of a similar type. The assistance is in the form of a loan, to be repaid over a long term.

The amalgamation of the North Atlantic interests of the two companies was made a condition of Government assistance.

The International Mercantile Marine Company of New York has instituted proceedings in British Courts for an injunction, restraining the merger, claiming that it holds all the shares in the Oceanic Company as security for the sale of the White Star Line.

SPECULATION CURB.

SHORT SELLERS MAY QUIT
GRAIN MART

New York, Mar. 28.
The exodus of professional speculators from the grain markets to other commodity exchanges is anticipated by trade circles if the Smith Bill is passed.

This Bill is the first legislative expression of the Administration's proposal for regulation of the commodity exchanges.

The Bill, which has already been introduced into Congress, amends the Grain Futures Act and aims at regulating transactions by providing a means of limiting short selling speculation.

Dealings in grain futures by commission merchants will be regulated by licensing measures, the Bill instructs. —Reuter.

TORIES AND INDIA REFORM

OUTCRY AGAINST
"MUZZLING" ORDER.

London, Mar. 28.
Hundreds of Conservatives assembled this morning in London for the meeting of the National Union of Conservative Associations.

The meeting discussed an official resolution banning further discussion of the White Paper on India reform problems, until the Select Committee had reported.
The resolution aroused a violent controversy. The India Defence League denounced it as a further example of the Government's determination to muzzle all criticism as to the Indian policy.

Viscount Fitzalan has affirmed that the Conservatives have a right and duty to discuss the Indian problem. Also, a properly constituted meeting of the India Defence League has gone on record declaring that once the Select Committee recommendations are published, the Act is as good as passed.

Although many Conservatives dislike the Government's India policy they hesitate to vote against it, through fear of splitting the party and wrecking the Government.

The Times, in an editorial, takes another view in the argument.
It states that too little attention is paid to the extraordinary weight of authority represented by the Select Committee. Enough is known of its private deliberations, says the Times, to explode the legend that its business is simply to endorse the existing draft of the India Reform Bill.

It is quite certain, the paper adds, that already there have been changes in the Bill due to the Committee's recommendations.
"This is no 'rubber-stamp' committee," the editorial states. —Our Own Correspondent.

NAVAL REDUCTION

ROOSEVELT'S HOPES FOR CONFERENCE

Washington, Mar. 28.
President Roosevelt has signed the Vinson-Trammell "Big Navy" Bill, authorising the building of the United States Navy up to the limits permitted by the London Naval Treaty. —Reuter.

Hope of Reduction.

Washington, Mar. 28.
In a Memorandum attached to the Vinson Bill, President Roosevelt makes it clear that the Bill merely approves the building up of the United States Navy to Treaty limits, and does not order that new ships will be built.

The President's Memorandum says that it will continue to be the policy of the Administration to favour the continued limitation of naval armaments.

"It is my personal hope that the Naval Conference of 1935 will extend all existing limitations and agree to further reductions," President Roosevelt's Memorandum concluded. —Reuter Special.

Amendment Defeated.

London, Mar. 28.
Viscount Fitzalan's amendment on the issue of the Government's Indian policy, which was discussed before the National Union of Conservative Associations to-day, was defeated by 419 votes to 314.

Mr. Winston Churchill, interviewed, said the smallness of the majority, by which Lord Fitzalan's amendment was defeated, was really most encouraging. He said: "It should make us redoubt-ful efforts in the direction of reform." —Reuter.

CONGRESS SHAKES ROOSEVELT'S PRESTIGE

REVOLT A DIRECT BLOW

NATIONAL CONFIDENCE RATTLED

A SERIOUS VIEW TAKEN

Washington, Mar. 29.

The action of Congress in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the Independent Offices Bill has caused a sensation and widespread comment.

A serious view is taken. The vote is a direct blow at President Roosevelt himself, declares the New York Times, which adds that the immediate effect is to leave him grievously wounded in the House, which has been his friend.

The Herald-Tribune declares that the President has poured out right and left his own opinion on this measure, but the fact remains that Roosevelt was right. The overthrow on this question is not do other than profoundly shake the national confidence in the government.

SENATE VOTE.

Washington, Mar. 28.

The Senate to-day voted 67 to 23 in favour of overriding the Presidential veto of the Independent Offices Bill, following the example of the House of Representatives.

Roosevelt vetoed the Bill because of amendments cancelling many of the provisions of the Economy Act of 1933, declaring that its passage would disturb the balance of the Budget.

Veterans bonuses are restored to within 25 per cent. of their former level and Federal employees are to receive an increase of pay instead of the decrease ordered under the Economy Act.

SPIRITED DEBATE.

The Bill thus becomes law over the President's head.

The result of the division was greeted with loud cheering. The division followed an hour of impassioned and bitter debate.

One of the most outstanding speeches was that of Senator Glass, who declared, with tears in his eyes, that he had two sons "Over There." He added: "I would disinherit them if they ever accepted a dollar from the Government, although they were in the front line trenches."

The roll-call showed that 33 Republicans, 29 Democrats and one Farmer-Labour member voted against the veto. The minority consisted solely of Democrats.—Reuter.

SPEED LIMIT TO BE RESTORED

IMPORTANT PROPOSALS IN NEW BILL

TOLL INCREASING

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, March 29, 9.28 a.m.)

LONDON, MARCH 28.

DRASTIC STEPS ARE CONTEMPLATED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO REDUCE THE TRAGICALY MOUNTING TOLL OF THE ROADS.

Proposals now before Parliament are experimental, it is indicated; if they do not accomplish the desired improvement, still more drastic legislation will be forthcoming.

One of the innovations will be a requirement of applicants for driving licences to undergo a test of competence. This is the normal practice in Hongkong, but it is not in Britain, where hitherto it has been purely a question of payment.

Cases have been known where licences have been issued to persons totally unfitted to drive for reason of physical disabilities.

Shocking official figures of the toll of the road in 1933 in comparison with those of 1932 were issued to-day, as follows:

	1933	1932
KILLED	7,200	6,667
INJURED	216,328	206,450
NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS	191,782	185,006

The official statement concerning the steady growth of tragedy on the roads states that the increases last year apply particularly to England and Wales.

Simultaneously with the publication of these figures, the Government issued the text of the new Road Traffic Bill, which is designed to deal with the problem.

One of the outstanding features of the Bill is the reintroduction of the speed limit, eliminated under the Morrison Bill.

The speed limit is to be fixed at thirty miles an hour in urban areas, namely, areas where "a system of street lighting is maintained."

The lower limits of traffic speeds will continue to apply to heavier vehicles, employed in the carriage of goods, which will also be required to carry a coloured disc for the purposes of identification.

New applicants for driving licences must pass a test of competence.

FINES FOR PEDESTRIANS.

Another striking feature of the Bill concerns the authority which is given to local authorities to prescribe special crossing places for pedestrians at dangerous corners and so on. Failure to cross at these points will be an offence and pedestrians who do not comply will be liable to a fine.

The Minister of Transport is empowered to regulate the use of horns and similar appliances and it is understood that an experiment is to be made in this direction in London for the guidance of the police chiefs in other parts of the country.

It is foreshadowed that if the Bill does not succeed in reducing the number of accidents, more stringent measures will be adopted.—Reuter's Special Service.

WAGE-RAISING IN AMERICA

Steel Companies and Labour Unrest

Washington, Mar. 29.

The Republic Iron and Steel and the National Tube Companies announce a ten per cent. increase in wages from April 1 and it is generally believed that the U.S. Steel Corporation will follow suit, thus confirming reports that the entire steel industry will join a wage-raising movement to reduce labour unrest.—Reuter.

USE OF JAPANESE CEMENT

HONGKONG GOVT. SPECIFICATIONS

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT

An official statement regarding the use of non-British cement for public works in the Colony was issued this afternoon by the Government, as follows:

"The information contained in the alleged statement in the House of Commons regarding the specification of Japanese cement in Government contracts is totally unfounded.

"Whilst in some cases British cement is specified, in no case is foreign cement specified.

"The general specification used in Government contracts is the cement to be used for any purpose specified in this contract is to be from a British factory or other source approved by the engineer and has to comply in every respect with the revised specification of the British Standards Committee dated November, 1931."

"A considerable proportion of the cement used by Government contractors is of foreign origin complying with the above specification."

MINISTER'S FLYING VISIT

ENTIRE HARMONY IN VIEWPOINT

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received March 29, 9.41 a.m.)

Paris, Mar. 29.

It is authoritatively learned that the policies of France and Belgium on the disarmament question are completely in harmony.

M. Barthou, the French Foreign Minister, has just returned to Paris from a flying visit to Brussels to discuss the situation arising from Britain's disarmament memorandum and France's reply, and is well satisfied with the results of his journey.

Belgium has agreed, it is learned, to support France's policy. Belgium will oppose, without any qualification, any proposal which would result in the disarmament of France while permitting the rearmament of Germany.

FRENCH FEARS ALLAYED

M. Barthou rushed to Paris for the purpose of saving what threatened to develop into a break-up of the traditional Franco-Belgian Entente as a result of the accession to the throne of King Leopold III in conjunction with the recent speech of Count de Bourqueville, which was interpreted unfavourably in France and caused fears that Belgium might consent to increased German armaments.—United Press.

DE VALERA SMILES

STATE DEPARTMENT WRONG

MR. McDOWELL'S CREDENTIALS

Washington, Mar. 28.

It now appears that the State Department was wrong in announcing that Mr. W. M. McDowell, new Minister to the Irish Free State, would present his credentials to the Governor-General in the usual way, and that his visit to Mr. de Valera was merely for the purpose of depositing duplicate credentials.

Mr. McDowell has cabled to the State Department reporting that he presented his credentials to Mr. de Valera.

He explains that he did so at the request of the Free State Government, who informed the American Legation that the matter had been discussed between the Irish and the British authorities and that the change in procedure had been agreed to by His Majesty the King.

Reuter's Dublin correspondent confirms this report.—Reuter.

MONTHS-OLD AGREEMENT.

Later.

It is stated in Dublin that arrangements were made between the British and Irish Governments some months ago that in future all representatives of foreign governments should present their credentials to Mr. de Valera, President of the Council and Foreign Minister, instead of to the Governor-General.—Reuter.

A Few Testimonials from Medical Authorities

SERRAVALLO'S TONIC

in Malarial Fever:

I am pleased to give you herewith my opinion on the merits of your world-famed preparation "Serravallo's Tonic" (Cinchona and Iron Wine), which I have used personally, and have prescribed it as well, with universal satisfaction. During the last one year, I was in Medical Charge of a D. P. W. Road Construction duty in one of the most malarious quarters here, which is called "The Kawakaw-Myawaddy Road". Here the working class as well as the officers were equally suffering from this dreadful malarial and I can very boldly say that I was the only solitary being there, who never had a single chill nor a slight increase of temperature. I attribute this to your valuable tonic. The price of your Tonic Wine did not enable me to place it within the reach of one and all, but I prescribed it freely to all the officers and other well-to-do men among the working class, who soon began to realize its untellable benefits. Men, who could not even swallow one morsel of food, commenced to take plenty, and even went to the extent of saying that they could not appease their hunger with their usual supply. Pale faces soon underwent a plethoric appearance and the toneless system became more and more vigorous. To be brief, a daily use of your Tonic brought about in many, a marvellous immunity from "Malarial Fever." Now to sum up my experience, I can, without hesitation say that your "Serravallo's Tonic" is an all-round tonic, a remarkable appetizer and a sure malarial prophylactic. Under its influence the blood is enriched and its remarkable palatability places it on the front rank of all the other tonics of a kindred nature we have in the market.

Dr. P. M.

C.M.S. Med. Officer, Kawakaw (Lower Burma).

in Enteric Fever:

I have prescribed "Serravallo's Tonic" in cases of Anaemia resulting from Malarial Fever, and in convalescing cases of Enteric Fever, and have much pleasure in saying that the beneficial results from its use have been most marked, it is very palatable, and should hold its own against any of the Ferruginous Wines on the market.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Creamy Cosmetics For Dry Skins

By Alicia Hart

Dry skins need, in addition to nourishment and adequate protection from sun and wind, cosmetics which have no drying effects.

For example, cream rouges are considered better than powdered ones for dry complexions. Now cream rouges have about the same consistency as whipped cream. They blend easily, leaving no rough edges and give a smooth, velvet-like appearance to a skin which is otherwise pretty dry.

Always smooth on a foundation lotion or cream before you start to apply cream rouge. Here's a little rouge trick which probably will prove helpful to anyone who has trouble getting the edges smoothed out: Dip your forefinger lightly in your clensing cream and then into the rouge pot. You'll find that the combination of the cream and rouge will aid you in blending the colour on your skin.

Buy your powder from a reliable manufacturer and try it before you make the purchase. The texture of face powder is just as important as the shade of it. Sometimes a heavier one, containing a little oil, is flattering to a dry skin.

If your lips are dry, use a creamy lipstick which will tend to keep them looking moist and freshly made up.

Perfect for general daytime wear, is this dress of red crepe with black velvet tie and cuffs. The simplicity of line, interesting sleeves and paneled skirt ending in pleats are pleasing features.

Checked woollen, faille or velveteen are materials recommended for the smart and useful frock pictured here.

You will be proud to wear a frock like this one to any afternoon affair, for it is entirely new with its square shoulder treatment. It is assembled with ease out of crepe or faille.

You'll square your shoulders and hold your head high in this model you can make in light woollen or velvet. Size 18 requires 3 1-3 yards of 54-inch material, or 1-1-6 yards of 35-inch material for the sleeve and yoke portions plus 2 1-2 yards contrast for the waist and skirt.

Comfortable Shoes

Foot comfort has a lot to do with the beauty of your face and figure.

Shoes that are too tight or those which have the wrong arches can cause wrinkles and a bad posture more quickly than anything else. It is practically impossible to present a rosy, calm, unlined face if your feet are aching and tired.

When you buy winter shoes make sure they are the right width and length and that the arches of them are suited to your feet.

It is a good idea to have one pair of shoes with low or medium heels. Wear them at work or when you are doing a lot of walking. There was a time when low-heeled shoes were ugly, but nowadays some of our best manufacturers specialize in low-heeled footwear that is neither too flat-looking nor unfit for anything but hiking in the country. You can have evening shoes with medium heels, if you choose.

Whatever type you prefer, be sure that you can stand correctly once you get them on. You don't want your whole body to be thrown forward—neither do you want it to bend backward.

If you have a corn, pad it well with cotton before you start wearing a new pair of shoes. Do likewise with a bunion. With a little medical treatment and shoes that are long enough, the corn soon will disappear.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

PABLITO, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial home of a millionaire, JIM FIELD. When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives he falls in love with her almost at sight. Pablito knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. As a child he ran away from ANGELA, the beautiful old nurse in whose care he was left. Since then he has lived with ROBERT NOYES, wanted by police for a murder years before.

CHAPTER IX

Pablito left the "Silver Dart" with a young man who was willing to convert it into an ornate gondola. Then he made his way to the servants' quarters.

There he found excitement that was made manifest through loud talk and occasional high-pitched laughter. The servants were excited by the prospect of the good time of which they would have glimpses and also because it was rumoured that on this occasion Field intended to outdo past extravagances.

"Too bad you all won't be here to-night," Jack commented.

"I've seen such parties before," Pablito answered.

"Not like this here one. This is the biggest yet."

Pablito picked up a sweater, sung out, "So long!" and turned toward the gate of the patio where Pete waited in the car the servants used.

They drove over sandy roads and through waste areas toward the strip of beach where Pablito always moored the small boat to which he had attached a power engine. In this he waved goodbye to Pete, started the engine and made for home—the strip of land that would be lonely to-night.

But it would not be for long. Pablito realized, smiling, that he would be coming back to the camp. Back to talk with Estelle if the fates were kind and he prayed they would be. Back to the glitter and to a masquerade that would be doubly real for him.

He planned some of the things he would say to her and said them half aloud. The screech of a swooping gull seemed to mock him and he replied to it in kind. Then, remembering, he turned his face toward the stretch of water beyond which lay Cuba. He had always hungered to go there and now he was going, but with a reluctance dimming his eagerness to view new scenes. There was often, he decided, an irony about one's granted wishes. By the time the goal was realized it was apt to seem less alluring. But he knew that Field had a big place outside of Havana. Perhaps—it was barely possible—he might see Estelle there. At this prospect Pablito fell to dreaming again.

Suddenly he remembered Noyes. He hoped Noyes was comfortable and that he had kept enough money to insure meals and a roof that would cover him. Sometimes the stars were put out by rain and then one needed a roof. Pablito's brow furrowed, thinking of Noyes, who needed care.

But he could not be downhearted for long on such a night and presently he was thinking of Estelle once more.

Field's camp at 10 that night was filled with a colourful throng—ladies of Venice, leopards, Pierrots, Columbianes, nuns, priests, señoritas of old Spain. There were various costumes to children just for the night. Russian royalty, Watteau milk maids, pirates, every variety of soldiers, Italian peasants, Sicilian fishermen, Lady Hamiltons, Bonapartes, Queen Elizabeths and many others. Bright hues, rich fabrics and fantastic designs were to be seen on all sides. There was a wide range in the costumes because of the wide range in personal tastes. And back of all the revelry was the grandeur made by a man who saw no reason against spending money except the lack of it to spend.

Pablito pulled his small boat to shore and walked to the camp. This took half an hour in spite of the fact that he knew the way perfectly and walked swiftly. He had been reassured and given courage by his appearance. His physique lent itself well to the garb he had chosen and, with his light hair covered, the brown of his skin made him indeed seem the Spaniard who walks calmly into the ring smelling of blood and dust, a short-handled, keen-edged weapon in his quick, nervous hand.

Pablito had not forgotten the dagger. He had plunged it into his sash so that only the hilt showed. Within a little distance of the camp he heard music and stopped at the edge of a stunted pine woods to adjust his mask. Suddenly he had a curious conviction that someone was nearby watching him. But he could see no one and went on quickly.

After he had disappeared a girl's voice said, "No one but a flower would come from this way."

A man answered her roughly, "If anyone else is planning our little game he'll come out at the short end!"

"What'll you do about it?"

"I'll watch him. I had a good look at him and if I see him again I'll know him."

The girl shivered from nervousness. "I don't like it," she said. "I got a funny feeling, Beau." The words seemed to have become a chant with her.

The man answered - by cursing her with sincere and deep feeling.

Pablito knew how Estelle was going to be dressed. He had learned this from the maids who always approached him on the least excuse to coquette and try to exact from him some slight show of interest. There was something about the youth which, coupled with his physical attractiveness, made him the target for concerted feminine advances.

Estelle, he had been told, was to be a wood dryad, clothed in green and carrying musical pipes of the sort with which Pan is said to have been disported. She was to wear her hair hanging loose and bound with a garland. Her feet and legs would be bare.

One of the servants had begun to make a comment about this costume but had halted it abruptly at a long and coldly appraising stare from Pablito. Early in the days of Pablito's employment at the camp there had been an occasion when he had laid low another servant named Zeke. Up until that moment Zeke, who had a quick, ungovernable temper, had had things very much his own way, thrashing anyone who disagreed with him. The affair had established a reputation for the blond youth and after that Pablito went his way unchallenged. The other servants were careful not to say anything they had reason to feel he would dislike.

Having made his way through a fringe of scraggly, under-nourished fir trees, Pablito found himself looking at the beginning of the party.

The setting was more dazzling than he had dreamed it could be. In spite of his knowledge of tropic nights and their power, even unaided, to enchant.

He did not at first see the one for whom he was looking. Doubtless she was standing somewhere in a corner looking on, a little shy and conscious of her bare legs and feet.

Suspected also as a Hitler agent, Marianne Kupfer, Hungarian opera singer, above, comes into the investigation of the world mystery of the Stavisky pawnshop scandal in France. Police are investigating Mrs. Kupfer's relations with Stavisky.

When Detroit gazes at this gleaming tower of ice, it's been a long, hard winter. The city's famed fountain rose higher than for many years, an infallible weather gauge, according to residents.

Excavating for their cars was the unpleasant task of hundreds of New York motorists after the heaviest blizzard of the winter swept the metropolitan area. Here a hapless driver is attempting to rescue his car from a towering drift that has covered it at Baisley Park, Long Island.

Their roofs piled high with snow and giant icicles hanging from the windows, trains "limped" into the Jamaica, Long Island, station, hours late, in the blizzard that recently paralyzed transportation in the New York City area. Here are shown a highly decorated train that arrived after a long struggle through mountainous drifts.

The music flared forth then and up the beach he saw dancing on the huge platform that had been erected for that purpose.

A girl in a Spanish costume and a man in the costume of a torador strolled through the crowd about this time. The girl walked too well. There was a rhythmic undulation of her shoulders, a sinuous way of her hips that made one of the New York guests think of a small salon with gray walls and sedate draperies where manikins paraded to display French costumes.

"Clever, that!" the woman said admiringly, as she looked after the girl and the stocky, short man beside her. "Fancy the wit that would make one disguise one's walk!"

Her companion shook his head, smiling a little. "Field has all sorts of friends," he said. "She may not be disguising her walk after all!"

The girl who had passed them was saying anxiously to her companion, "Do you know where he is now?"

The man answered her with a sullen, "Yes."

"Watcha goin' to do, Beau, if he walks off with the best before we begin to comb the place?" she questioned in a whisper that was made shrill by nervousness.

"Mind your business, will you, and I'll tend to mine!" the man responded in an angry undertone. "If you must know it, he's goin' to leave with us to-night! I'll fix it some way. I generally can fix things when I hafta, can't I?"

"Yes," the girl agreed, lifelessly. She knew that well.

SINO-AMERICAN TREATY

SHANGHAI CHAMBER AND IMMIGRATION

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shanghai, March 28. In a communication to the Nan-king Foreign Office, the Shanghai Chinese Chamber of Commerce draws the attention of the authorities to several points concerning the proposed revision of the Sino-American Commercial Treaty.

The message stresses the importance of correcting abuses arising out of the execution of the American Immigration Law.

The Chamber states that if the United States Government cannot be persuaded to modify its regulations for the treatment of Chinese labourers, at least the meaning of "merchant" must be clearly defined in any revised Sino-American Commercial Treaty. In order to prevent arbitrary interpretation by the United States Government in its application of the Immigration Law to Chinese.—Central News.

SWISS BUDGET CRISIS*NEW MINISTER APPOINTED*TO STAY ON THE GOLD BASIS

Berne, Mar. 28.

The political crisis threatened by the resignation of M. Musy, the Finance Minister, has passed.

Fears that Switzerland might be compelled to abandon the gold standard have also disappeared.

M. Philippe Etter has been appointed to succeed M. Musy as Minister of Finance, and following the appointment an agreement has been reached between political leaders.

The Federal Council has decided that the Budget must be balanced and that no expenditure will be permitted which is not covered by revenue receipts.

The Council also decided to forewear all manipulations of currency and to maintain the gold standard. —Reuter.

OBSTRUCTION AT CENTRAL MARKET*I.G.P. AND HAWKER

When Lau Sui, a licensed hawker, was charged before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning with obstruction, the Inspector General of Police, the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe pointed out that Queen Victoria Street was very congested in the mornings up to midday, owing to the fact that one of the main entrances to the Central Market was there and lorries brought their vegetables to this centre.

The I.G.P. said that this only leaves the east side for through traffic going to and coming from the vehicular ferry wharf. Hawkers have a habit of trying to settle on the corner, and no doubt it is profitable for them. Yesterday there were two, of which the defendant was one, and they formed a very serious obstruction to traffic. It was quite impossible for cars to pass through. The Chinese constable had apparently overlooked that until he saw my car. He caught the nearest man, the defendant. Although he is 62 years of age, the defendant knows very well that hawking is not allowed in the central district.

Replying to his Worship, the I.G.P. said the new regulations were published six months ago. Notices are posted and the hawkers are warned when they come to renew their licences. He pressed for a heavier fine than would be normally inflicted. Defendant was on $5 bail.

A fine of $5 or one week's hard labour was imposed.

Professor Julius Tandler, who was arrested in Vienna ten days ago after his return from Shanghai University, has been released.

The arrest was apparently ordered as a precautionary step owing to Professor Tandler's associations with the Social Democratic Party.

He has a worldwide reputation as an anatomist and was formerly Chief of the Vienna Health Department.—Reuter.

A thanksgiving service is to be held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Easter Sunday, at 3.30 p.m., in honour of the canonisation of St. John Bosco, the founder of the Salesian Community.

BAG-SNATCHING INCIDENT*MAGISTRATE THANKS INTERCEPTER

When a bag-snatching incident occurred in Wyndham Street last night, the thief was arrested by Mr. Fan Sul-nam of No. 2 Yan Sau Lane.

Chan Ming, 28, pleaded guilty to the charge before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Magistracy this morning, and was sentenced to six months' hard labour with 12 strokes of the birch.

Turning to Mr. Fan Sul-nam, the magistrate said: I would like to congratulate you on your action in arresting this man and bringing him to the Police Station.

Inspector James, who prosecuted, said a complainant was walking down Wyndham Street when defendant snatched the bag from her hand and made off into Wai Tak Lane where he was intercepted by Mr. Fan. A struggle ensued but Mr. Fan held on to his captive and took him to Central Police Station.

ANOTHER CASE.

In another case, in which Chan Pan admitted stealing a handbag from a young woman in Lower Lascar Row, it was stated by Inspector James that the bag was not recovered.

Defendant said he was compelled to steal owing to poverty. He threw away the bag.

ATTEMPTED THEFT FROM CAR*OWNER ARRIVES IN TIME

Lee Chu, 28, of Canton, denied a charge of loitering with intent to steal an umbrella, when he appeared before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning.

The complainant, Revenue Officer E. Tuck, said he was walking with his wife from the Central Theatre to Jervois Street to his car which was parked there. On arrival, he saw the defendant inside the car, in a crouching position, using a torch. Defendant jumped out and was running westward when witness caught him. He then rapidly offered apologies for being in the car and stated he was just having a look. He knew it was a Morris car and wanted to have a look.

On examination, witness found the seats displaced and the backrest down. An umbrella had been taken out and placed by the hood. Defendant: I saw the car was a peculiar model and very small, so I took a look at it.

R. O. Tuck: The car is not peculiar in appearance. Defendant was convicted and a previous conviction for housebreaking was produced.

Three months' hard labour was imposed.

"EVERY MAN WHO DOES NOT DO HIS BEST COMMITS THE UNPARDONABLE SIN."—William Lyon Phelps.

To-morrow (Good Friday) there will be no issue of the Hongkong Telegraph. Publication will be resumed on Saturday.

Describing it was wanting cruelty, Mr. Macfadyen this morning imposed a fine of $10 on a Chinese who carried six pigeons suspended from one string. Defendant stated he had other parcels to carry!

Struck by a rock during blasting operations at a quarry at North Point, yesterday, a Chinese woman, who was passing by, received head injuries from which she died after being taken to the Government Civil Hospital.

A raid carried out by Revenue Officer Humphreys in Pokfulam Road yesterday, resulted in a Chinese girl being charged in the Juvenile Court this morning with possession of 40 tablets of illicit opium. A man, Chung Weng, was charged before Mr. Hamilton in the Police Courts with dealing in opium. The case was adjourned for the translation of certain papers seized.

MOTOR CYCLE MISHAP*THREE INJURED IN COLLISION

Three Chinese were injured when a motor-cycle combination on which they were riding collided with a bus on the Castle Peak Road shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred at a spot above the Ten Mile Bench where Mrs. Evans, the wife of Major Glynn Evans, of 3 King's Park Buildings, has a bathing shed. Attracted by the crash, she ran to the spot and found the three men, who had been slung clear of their machine, lying on the ground.

Assisted by others who were with her, Mrs. Evans had the men moved into her car, afterwards driving with them to the Kowloon Hospital where their injuries, which seemed to be of a more or less serious character, were attended to.

Li Kwai, unemployed, was sentenced to nine months' hard labour by Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, for having returned from banishment before the expiration of his term. He was banished for ten years in 1920.

MR. HENDERSON CONFERS*Disarmament Bureau To Meet

London, Mar. 28.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, Chairman of the Disarmament Conference, called on the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, who was accompanied by Mr. Anthony Eden at the House of Commons this afternoon and discussed suggestions connected with the next meeting of the Bureau or the steering committee of the general commission of the conference.

It will be recalled that the Bureau was instructed to prepare a clear draft of the British Draft Convention, incorporating the modifications contained in the documents which have since been exchanged between Governments.

These documents include the recent British memorandum. At its last meeting, in London February, the Bureau adjourned until April 10th, at latest. It is understood that a meeting is now being summoned to take place on that date.—British Wireless.

HOME RAILWAY COLLISION*WHY THERE WERE NO CASUALTIES

London, Mar. 28.

A mishap occurred at Doncaster during dense fog early this morning, when the London and North Eastern Railway night express from London to Edinburgh ran into another express which left London for the same destination seven minutes earlier.

Three mail vans and a brake van were derailed. No passengers nor any of the train's crew were hurt, and the trains proceeded after fifty-eight minutes' delay. The cause of the accident is under investigation.

The escape from injury of the hundreds of passengers who were travelling in the trains involved is due to the fact that the steel frames of the coaches bore the shock of the impact.—British Wireless.

DODGING ARREST.*INSULT HEADING FOR RUMANIAN PORT?

Istanbul, Mar. 28.

The steamer Majotis, presumably with Mr. Samuel Insull still on board, passed Chanak, in the Dardanelles, at 8 o'clock this morning.

The Captain of the vessel declared they were proceeding to a Rumanian port. Mr. Insull is dodging arrest on charges of fraud emanating from the United States and has been aboard the Majotis since his hurried departure from Greece.—United Press.

CHORAL SERVICE*ELIJAH TO BE RENDERED AT UNION CHURCH

The Easter Choral Service from Mendelssohn's Oratorio "Elijah" will be rendered at the Hongkong Union Church at 6 p.m. on Sunday, Mr. G. E. Longyear acting as Organist and Choir Master.

Mrs. A. M. Bowes-Smith, Mrs. H. L. Lockhart, Mr. W. J. T. Phelps and Mr. W. H. Bailey will be the Soloists.

M.C.C. TOURISTS.*ENGLISH TEAM BACK FROM INDIA

Plymouth, Mar. 28.

The Marylebone Cricket Club touring eleven arrived home to-day, minus only one man, Jardine, who is staying on in India in order to do some shooting.

The manager said the tour had been a complete success. The Indian eleven, he added, had greatly improved, but he was unable to say whether they would ever reach Australian or English standards.

Body-line bowling was not used in India, which may have been one of the reasons for the success and friendliness of the tour, he said.—Reuter.

RADIO TELEPHONE.*NEW TRANSMITTER ARRIVES AT CANTON

PRODUCE

Whilst full credit must be given for the painstaking work of the Committee appointed by the Government to enquire into the local marketing of New Territories produce, we imagine that the reaction of the average reader of this Report will be that there has been too great a disposition on the part of the investigators to accept conditions as they are. It must be conceded that there has in latter years been a big improvement in the facilities offered for the bringing of produce into Kowloon and Hongkong, and in that respect the existing organisation may, as the Committee claims, be said to function in an effective manner. It is not on the question of transport arrangements that doubts arise, but the facts and figures revealed in the Report do raise a query whether the actual producer gets a fair share of the profits accruing from his enterprise and labour. Before his products reach the consumer, quite a number of middlemen have to be recompensed, each taking off a considerable percentage. The system involved is typically Chinese in character, and of a somewhat complicated nature. It may, for this reason, be difficult to break down. Even the producer himself would appear to view suggested new methods with some measure of scepticism. Even so, the thought does suggest itself that there will not be any really marked expansion of the market locally until sufficient inducement is forthcoming for the producer to embark on a bigger scale. The exhibits at the annual agricultural shows and at the Empire Fair have shown that really excellent products can be grown on the mainland, and with the wider adoption of modern methods of cultivation there is every reason to believe that the standard could be even more greatly improved. But there must be a sufficient inducement. The problem is mainly a financial one, and it would surely be in the Colony's interest, making it less dependent on outside sources, if the Government could evolve some satisfactory financial plan whereby a greater percentage of profit would go to the producer than is at present the case. In course of time, under favourable conditions, there might spring into being across the harbour a big community earning its living on the land and helping to make the Colony more self-supporting in the matter of the necessities of life. The situation seems to call for the planning of a big Government-aided scheme, based on the same principles which are being put into force on behalf of agriculture in England at the present time.

U.S. AIR MAILS

President Roosevelt's virtual capitulation on the air mail contract issue will not be accompanied by any loss of personal prestige. On the contrary, a strong feeling exists in the United States that the arbitrary cancellation overstepped the mark and that the decision to restore the air mails to private concerns as soon as possible is necessary to put matters right. There was, after all, not a shadow of reflection on the men who were actually doing the work. And those with financial control who brought about the muddle by intrigue and graft have probably learned a lesson.

GREAT RECORD

The American air mail pilots themselves made one of the finest records in the history of aviation. They have been good, superlatively good, at a job calling for skill, coolness, and devotion. From the standpoint of physical service, they made the American air mail network one of the finest things of its kind in all the world—if not the very finest. Similarly, the technicians, the designers, the men who built the planes and the engines, the operating officials who arranged schedules and issued assignments, repair men and service men and wireless and weather experts—all filled their difficult jobs with distinction.

WRONG FINANCES

The troubles that led to the wholesale cancellation of contracts were, in fact, in no way due to the men who were doing the actual work of flying the mails. From a purely physical viewpoint, the air mail organisation was a thing of which the whole country could be proud. Where, then, was the trouble? It arose solely from the fact that this magnificent edifice of service rested on the wrong kind of financial base. In some cases—not in all, by any means—the men at the very top were less concerned with doing an important job in an efficient manner than with making two dollars grow where one had grown before. To put it more simply, the fact that a few men were greedy was enough to nullify all the skill, the courage, and the devotion to duty which the great mass of employees put into their jobs.

YOUNG HEADS

The appointment of a new headmaster to Harrow at the age of forty-three is not quite the novelty suggested although Dr. Vellacott is one of the youngest men to get the Harrow appointment. It may, however, be recalled that last year a new head was appointed to Uppingham at the age of twenty-seven. The spirit underlying such a policy is greatly to be applauded. To-day the generations are separated by deeper gulfs than before, and it would not be hard to think of public schools that have been—terribly—lowered—in vitality because elderly masters have too long continued to rule boys they had ceased to understand.

ECONOMISING ON JUSTICE

The constitutional aspect of the reduction of Judges' salaries, which the Lord Chancellor expounded recently is doubtless an important one, but the vital consideration for Britain is that an under-paid Bench will not in the long run continue to be manned by the best intellects of the law. A loss of quality in British justice would be a sacrifice utterly incommensurable with the few thousand pounds saved by the present retrenchment.

GOOD HARD WORK

One of the latest Nazi decrees requires that all boys and girls who desire to enter German universities must serve at least six months in Nazi labour camps, toiling with pick and shovel just like any proletarian wage earner. This ruling just has been in Berlin, and in many ways it looks like an excellent idea. The lad who is permitted to attend a university is privileged. He is presumably fitting himself for life-long emancipation from back-breaking physical toil. It is not, therefore, an unsound scheme which would require him first to find out by actual experience what manual labour means. It may serve two useful purposes, help him to understand the viewpoint and the problems of those less fortunate than himself; enable him better to estimate how lucky he is.

BLOOD AND RACE

Danger of Political Theories Based on Delusion.
By PROFESSOR J. B. S. HALDANE, F.R.S.

POPULAR belief, as embodied in language, connects blood with racial origin. We speak of a man having negro blood on his mother's side, and so on. It is worth examining such phrases at the present time, when the rulers of Germany are basing their politics on a particular theory of race. Can race be determined by examining the blood?

A microscopical examination will not help us. Human blood corpuscles differ in size from those of most other animals, and in shape from some. But the human races do not differ. A few families in the United States have oval corpuscles like camels and llamas, but this peculiarity is found both in white and coloured people. I cannot forbear from suggesting it as a clue in a detective story. The detective finds a blood-stain. The super-detective uses a microscope, and pronounces it that of a camel. The super-super-detective, having read this article, discovers that the blood is human and belonged to the missing heir, in whose family such corpuscles were hereditary.

More important hereditary differences were found when blood transfusion became a practical proposition. Some people have on their corpuscles a chemical substance which is named agglutininogen A—a hideous example of scientific jargon. If such corpuscles are injected into the veins of a person who does not carry A, they will clump together, and may cause his death. In order to find out whether this will happen it is sufficient to add the corpuscles of the donor to the serum of the recipient, and inspect the result with a hand-lens. Another substance called B behaves in the same way.

Similarly some, but not all, corpuscles carry a substance called P reacting with horse serum, and a number of other such agglutinogens are being found, at the rate of about two a year, which are present in some people but not in others. It is enough to examine a single drop of blood to find out whether these substances are present.

In all these cases the laws of inheritance are very simple. In technical language the presence of an agglutininogen is dominant over its absence. This implies, among other things, that the proportion of a population in which it is found remains constant, and that no one ever possesses an agglutininogen not present in one of his or her parents.

This latter fact has an immediate application in cases of doubtful paternity. By testing for the agglutinogens so far known it would be possible to prove non-paternity of an innocent man in most, but not all, cases. Unfortunately, many of the necessary sera are not at present available in Britain, as the main work on these substances has been done in foreign countries.

When the bloods of different races are compared we do not find any one agglutininogen invariably present in a race, though it is quite possible that we shall do so in future when more of these substances are known. But we do find very marked differences in the proportion of people who carry them. Thus, in England, about fifty per cent. carry A, and only ten per cent. B, whereas in Canton only twenty-nine per cent. carry A and thirty-one per cent. B.

These proportions are unaffected by climate. Thus, in Hungary the gypsies have the blood characteristics of Northern India, the Germans that characteristic of Germany, while the Magyars resemble no other people of Central or Western Europe, but find their closest resemblance in South Russia and Central Asia.

A single individual gives no information. One can merely say that such and such a combination is twice as likely to be found in a Lapp as in an Englishman. It is only when a sample of several hundred people has been examined that the racial characteristics begin to show up.

If we make a world map for the racial distribution of the substances concerned in blood transfusion (and, unfortunately, no maps are yet available for the others), certain facts stare us in the face. The B substance is rare or absent in Australian aborigines and in the native races of America, save for a few groups mostly on the Chilean coast who may carry Polynesian blood. Elsewhere the proportion diminishes as we go out from a focus in Central Asia. In the Punjab about 50 per cent. carry it. The figure is nearly as high in Soviet Turkestan, so the maximum very likely lies in the mountains between. Any anthropologist who is tired of life would be well advised to try bleeding a few hundred Afghans in order to test this hypothesis.

Over much of Asia and some of Africa 35 per cent. or more of the population carry B, and this high B area stretches into Europe as far as the Ukraine as a result of Tartar invasions. The 20 per cent. contour line includes all Asia, but runs through Germany and the Balkans, while in our own islands and the Atlantic seaboard the proportion falls to about 10 per cent. These figures very clearly point to an emigration from Central Asia, which began after man arrived in America and Australia, but of which only a few stragglers reached Western Europe.

The racial theorists of the National Socialist Party demand the expulsion of the Jews as being "vorder-Asiatisch." It is, therefore, interesting to note that, while the Jews of Central Germany have rather more of the B substance than the British, they have considerably less than the inhabitants of East Prussia, in whose blood Asiatic ancestors have left considerable traces.

So far as blood is an index, there are no pure races, though some American Indian tribes are nearly homogeneous. A race is a characteristic mixture. It is not unlikely that, in the case of some of the great mixed races, such as the British, Spaniards and Russians, the same is true as regards those more important hereditary traits which, along with tradition in its widest sense, determine character and intellect. There is no such thing as a characteristically British mind any more than there is a characteristically British blood group or hair colour.

On the contrary, it has been our fortune that great opportunities have called to characteristically different men, a Knox, a Pitt, a Disraeli, a Lloyd George; that our poets have been as different as Donne, Pope, and Swinburne, and that, perhaps in response to this innate diversity, we have, on the

The Very Idea!

WOULD YOU LIKE TO
SEE OUR OPERATION?

We were only too conscious of the pitiful inadequacy of our arms.

A rusty, hiltless sword; a cracked and dented shield; a visorless helmet; and a breastplate hat lot large portions of a torn shirt, flap dependant in the breeze, were and accoutrements for he who would battle for the life of the sacrificial virgin.

There, but a rood or two away, she hung in the chains with which the burghers had fastened her to the exterior of the city's ponderous gates.

And here, his half-mile of logs a blur, his foul maw vomiting flame and sulphur fumes, came the dragon, ravening for his morning meal of damosel.

Death lurked in every quiver of his wings—in every cymbal clash of his sting.

Even as we stood transfixed my trusty steel bolted for the shelter of the city walls.

An almost uncontrollable impulse to follow him seized us. But, one glance at the drooping form, clad in its girlish white banished the craving intention.

And then she spoke.

"Sack him one in the smelter!" came her gentle accents.

Accompanied by the ring of a sword whipped from its scabbard we dashed into the fray. Even as the fiend darted upon her the good blade buried itself in his jowl. With a roar that made the burghers blanch he wheeled off.

The maiden lifted her voice.

"Hoary! Atta baby! Kick his greasy boko in!" she crooned.

Not for long did we enjoy a breathing spell. The foul beast banked, and, with wings flapping thunderously, nosed upon us. The crash as we engaged pre-terated the more nervous among the cannallio lining the walls.

We plied the sword valantly. Huge hunks of dragon-meat flew at every stroke. His blood, black and over-scented, spouted forth in cascades.

"Stick him in the gizzard!" spake the prospective breakfast.

Her voice spurred us to prodigies of butchery. We lifted the sword in both hands and smote at his scaly throat.

There was a frightful jar—the blade snapped off short, leaving us nothing but our bare hands to fight with.

Undaunted we grasped one of his jaws in each hand and strove mightily to tear them asunder. But, without our sword, our struggles were useless.

He wrappd his octopus-like legs around us. Tighter and tighter grew his grasp, while his fiery breath roasted our flesh from the bones. We felt the breastplate snap; and then, one by one, our ribs. A great blackness descended as the sulphur fumes ate into our brain.

"Aw, you big mug! You couldn't knock a sick hen off an egg!" cooed the maiden.

Then the blackness lifted. We felt strangely weak and ill and smelly. From somewhere near a tough, exasperated voice was saying:

"If all fellows coming out of chloroform were like this one I wouldn't be a doctor for a thousand weeks!"

Prognostication

We're very much inclined to think, if present trends of fashion thrive, That slacks and shorts may be "non est" By nineteen thirty-five, Instead we'll have a body-paint, Sprayed on with pumps from bouzouks; And trousers will be only sores By quite old fashioned wouzers.

His Victory

She weighed fourteen stone. He only weighed eight.

She owned their children. He only watched them grow.

She spent his wages. He only worked for them.

She bought his clothes. He only wore them, or some of them.

In every way, through twenty years of married life, she ruled and he obeyed.

Then he took the initiative and, quite without prompting, became ill.

She nursed and cured him.

He said, "I'm going to die."

She said, "You're not."

He died.

Which proves that the worm will turn.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEYESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. The new done 840,000 shares. The market was dull but firm the whole day featured by exceptional strength in Rails and Goldmining stocks. Strength in Rails was due to excellent railroad reports including plan to keep to Denver Rio Grande RR solvent. Reason for the strength in Goldmining shares was unapparent, although some believe that it was a technical reaction upward. Curb stocks were firmer due to brisk rally in mining shares. Bonds were irregular with U.S. Government issues slightly higher and foreign issues had a better tone.

Our New York office cable:—Stocks showed a fairly firm undertone but actively continued at a low level and awaiting new developments. Several May futures trading active. Reported cold wave in the South-West preceded by high winds and dust storms and the situation which favours higher prices. Cotton: Strong opposition to the Bankhead Bill is developing in the Senate and apparently there was an evident lack of confidence in the Bill if passed with the present amendments, which includes six sales per farmer without tax, one year instead of three, and reduced penalty with staple crop exemption. Market news was generally unfavourable but confidence in some quarters of further inflation continues. There were rumours of a ten per cent reduction in inflation bills during next eight weeks. No demand for spot. Textiles again quiet. May liquidation. Bombay selling. Silver: Despite the decline in London this market opened firm, declining in the afternoon on pre-holiday selling.

whole, tolerated a variety of opinions and manners such as is found in few other nations. It turns out that the proportion in which various characters occur in a race is quite as typical as are the traits common to all its members.

A recent German textbook, Lehmann's "Rassenkunde," puts down the peridy of Albion to the fact that we number among our ancestors the races who lived in Britain before the Anglo-Saxon—and even the Celtic—invasions. For this reason, we are told, the Germans find us unsympathetic. Perhaps we might hope to gain their esteem if we exiled all persons with one Welsh grandparent.

But it may be that the mixture has gone too far for such treatment to remedy, and we must resign ourselves to a hopeless admiration of the Germans.

We are not a pure race, and never shall be. For after hybridisation a pure race can only be re-established by very intense selection, such as took place in the formation of the thoroughbred horse and the Sealyham terrier. It may be that for those few nations, such as Sweden, which can claim some approach to racial homogeneity, a political system based on racial purity is desirable. But we are cast in many different moulds, and any political theory which does not take cognisance of this diversity of talents is not merely a delusion, but a danger to the nation.

ENBS and backs who have to go down for passes get quite a few hard knocks from opponents on pass defense who, too often, are out to get the receiver rather than the ball. Of course, illegal interference is promptly penalized when seen by the official, but a penalty will in no way save the injuries.

Receivers, therefore, should be taught how to "take it"—how to go up after a pass, get knocked down hard, and still be able to get up. Relax from the wait up and have the arms and the body soft and liquid. Wrists must be relaxed and the hands and arms should be set, although not tensed, to gather in the ball when it reaches the passer.

If knocked down, a relaxed body gets bruised much less quickly than a tensed one. Sketch shows the way to catch a pass.

SHIP LEAVES
MANILA

(Special to "Telegraph")

(The Telegraph. Copyright. Telegraphic Mar-times. Ordinance, 1894. Received. March 29, 9.45 a.m.)

Manila, Mar. 29.
The United States Asiatic Fleet has started its annual northward trek, with the departure at six o'clock this morning of the flagship, the U.S.S. Augusta, which is bound for Shanghai.

It is probably that the Augusta,
with Admiral Upham on board, will call at Hongkong in order to give the Admiral and his Staff an opportunity of inspecting the burned-out wreck of the U.S.S.
Fulton.

The submarine-tender, U.S.S.
Canopus, with her submarines, is leaving for Tsingtao via Shanghai on Monday, while the U.S.S. Black Hawk, together with a destroyer squadron of five ships will be leaving within the next fortnight for Japanese ports.—Reuter.

"FULTON" PLANS.

The U.S.S. Fulton will shortly
leave Hongkong for Cavite,

NETHERLANDS OVERTURE

TRADE AGREEMENT WITH BRITAIN

NEGOTIATIONS
ARRANGED

London, Mar. 28.
Reciprocal trade agreements continue to be "in the fashion".

The Netherlands Government have informed His Majesty's Government that they are anxious to enter into negotiations in regard to trade between the two countries.

Colonel Colville, Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, stated in the House of Commons that,
in order to facilitate the discussions the Netherlands Government have decided to continue, for a limited period, to allot to goods imported from the United Kingdom, the quotas which were in force before the recently proposed reductions were decreed.

His Majesty's Government are arranging to enter into the discussion, the status quo on both sides being maintained in the meantime in the hope that it will be possible to arrive at a satisfactory arrangement for the future.

Colonel Colville anticipated that the discussions would begin at an early date.—British Wireless.

will be towed to Manila by the U.S.S. Pecos.

The U.S.S. Augusta is due from Manila tomorrow and will anchor in Junk Bay. Here the majority of the crew and officers of the Fulton will be transferred to her from the Asheville and she proceed to Shanghai.

BONUS DISPUTE ON K.C.R.

CHINESE SECTION
CONTROVERSY

EMPLOYEES' COMPLAINT

(Special to "Telegraph")

Canton, Mar. 29.
A dispute between employees of the Canton-Kowloon Railway (Chinese section) and the Railway Administration on the question of bonus is threatening.

The dispute arises from the Administration decision to pay each worker a bonus for last year equal to one month's wages instead of one and half as was originally intended, on the ground that railway revenues for last year were insufficient to meet the full bonus and interest obligations to British bondholders.

The workers declare that they have already suffered heavily by accepting their wages in Canton Provincial Government depreciated banknotes, and point to several other charges on their wages, such as contributions to the Relief Fund of the Chinese volunteers in Manchuria and special contributions to the National Aviation Development Fund.

The Railway Administration states that it cannot alter the decision until further instructions have been received from the Construction Department of the Canton Government, which is really responsible for the ruling.—Central News.
